

The Insanmincer Podcast: A Defiant Tale of Freedom and Love in a World of Uncertainty

Las Vegas, Nevada Feb 4, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - Award-Winning Director and Queer Activist Robert Jerome Pagan Unveils The Insanmincer Podcast: A Bold Call for Freedom and Resistance

In a time when the world teeters on the edge of uncertainty, The Insanmincer podcast—helmed by award-winning director and queer activist Robert Jerome Pagan—boldly emerges as a beacon of defiance, freedom, and love. Based on the acclaimed first book in the YADOX Files series, this groundbreaking narrative stands against the forces that seek to silence creativity and suppress the human spirit.

A testament to resilience, The Insanmincer dives into a dystopian world where the grotesque Trimpicans—a mutated remnant of humanity born from nuclear devastation—rule with oppressive zeal. In this darkness, a spark of hope ignites, challenging the establishment and inspiring change.

“The Insanmincer is more than a podcast; it’s a movement,” says Robert Jerome Pagan. “It’s a reflection of our times and a rallying cry for love, freedom, and the enduring power of art to challenge oppression.”

The 13-episode journey begins with Episode 1, releasing on Friday, January 31, 2025. This podcast brings together a global cast of queer humans and allies, uniting voices from across the U.S., Canada, Scotland, and Mexico to tell a story that is as urgent as it is inspiring.

The Insanmincer dares to imagine a better future while holding a mirror to the struggles of today. As shadows of authoritarianism loom, it offers an unflinching look at the cost of silence and the courage required to stand against oppression.
