

Alessandro Concas Elected Vice President of Education for Santa Clarita Toastmasters Gavel Club

Los Angeles, California Feb 25, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - Alessandro Concas, a young author and entrepreneur from Valencia, California, has been elected as the Vice President of Education for the Santa Clarita Toastmasters Gavel Club. In this role, Alessandro will leverage his communication skills and leadership abilities to enhance the educational experience for club members.

Alessandro Concas, 15, is known for publishing his first book, "The A to Zs of Fighting Boredom," at the age of eight. He has since authored the science fiction series "Life of the Time Cat". Alessandro's dedication to helping others is evident through his decision to donate a portion of his book sales to charities and save for his college tuition.

As Vice President of Education, Alessandro will be responsible for:

- Planning and organizing club meetings to ensure they are educational and engaging.
- Assisting members with their communication and leadership goals by providing guidance and resources.
- Managing the club's educational program, including speech assignments and evaluations.
- Promoting a supportive and positive learning environment within the Gavel Club.

Gavel Clubs provide the Toastmasters experience to individuals who may be ineligible for regular membership due to age or other circumstances. Alessandro's involvement in the Santa Clarita Toastmasters Gavel Club demonstrates his commitment to personal growth and helping others develop their communication and leadership skills.

Alessandro shares that he wants to be an accomplished, well-known business owner when he grows up and plans to donate both his time and money to hospitals and animal shelters everywhere.

About Alessandro Concas:

Alessandro Concas, born in 2009 in Burbank and based in Valencia, California, is a young author and entrepreneur. He began his entrepreneurial journey at age 8 when he wrote his first book, "The A to Zs of Fighting Boredom". Alessandro has since authored the "Life of the Time Cat" series, a set of sci-fi books featuring his cat Bijou that he plans to turn into an animated movie series. He is also the founder of EterniCat LLC. Alessandro is a student, musician, and language enthusiast who speaks English and is learning Italian and Spanish. He aspires to attend Harvard University and is inspired by Elon Musk. Alessandro also supports charitable causes through his books.

About EterniCat, LLC:

EterniCat, LLC is a multifaceted company founded by Alessandro Concas, a young entrepreneur and author. The company, established when Alessandro was 14 years old, has several key divisions and initiatives:

EterniCat Books and Movies

Alessandro has authored multiple books under the EterniCat brand:

- "The A to Zs of Fighting Boredom" (written at age 8)

- "Life of the Time Cat: Rise of Catastrophye"
- "Life of the Time Cat: Warning of the Ultimate Element"

These books are available worldwide through major outlets like Amazon, Barnes & Noble, Walmart and IngramSpark, and have been translated into Spanish and Italian. Alessandro plans to complete the Life of the Time Cat decalogy by age 18.

Life of the Time Cat animated movies. (See Lookbook)

Business Expansion

EterniCat is actively pursuing partnerships with major retailers:

- In talks with Costco and Walmart for nationwide book distribution
- Collaborating with Great Wolf Lodge to feature books at their locations across the U.S. and internationally

EterniCat Motivation

Alessandro offers motivational speaking services, encouraging students nationwide to pursue their dreams and take concrete steps towards achieving them.

Financial Literacy Initiative

In November 2024, Alessandro launched a financial literacy curriculum for children and teens through Oksana Enrichment Programs. This program aims to teach money management, fiscal responsibility, and entrepreneurship.

Future Plans

- Expand the "Life of the Time Cat" series into a movie franchise
- Venture into real estate and restaurants under the "Life of the Time Cat" brand
- Establish a nonprofit organization to benefit animals
- Create employment opportunities through various business ventures

WATCH NOW!!

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=CgY8dOvF8L8&t=2s>

Media Contact

oksana

@oksana-k.com

Source : EterniCat, LLC

See on IssueWire