

Bridging Nursing, Risk Management, and Advanced Practice

New York City, New York Feb 10, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - For nearly two years, Elise Zbar has served as the Risk Manager at Keller Army Community Hospital, where she has been instrumental in rebuilding and strengthening the hospital's risk management program. With an extensive background in nursing, public health, and patient safety, Elise has dedicated her career to improving healthcare quality and ensuring a safe, responsive medical environment for the West Point community.

Her journey in healthcare began as a pediatric nurse, where she developed a strong foundation in patient-centered care. Recognizing the broader impact she could have on healthcare systems, she pursued a Master's Degree in Nursing Education from SUNY Polytechnic Institute in 2018, followed by a Postgraduate degree as a Family Nurse Practitioner in December 2024.

Throughout her career, Elise has been a champion for public health and infectious disease prevention. Before stepping into risk management, she served as a Public Health Nurse at Keller Army Community Hospital from 2014 to 2023, where she led initiatives that improved community health outcomes and reinforced infection control measures. Her ability to blend clinical expertise with healthcare leadership has made her a trusted advocate for both patients and providers.

Now, as she transitions into her new role as a certified Family Nurse Practitioner, Elise brings a unique combination of hands-on nursing experience, risk mitigation knowledge, and a deep commitment to patient-centered care. With a focus on preventative health, patient education, and evidence-based practice, she is eager to empower her patients with the knowledge and care they need to achieve long-term well-being.

Embodying the core values of communication, safety, and trust, Elise prioritizes patient quality of life and strives to foster an environment where patients feel safe and supported. Her approach to nursing is rooted in empathy and a genuine desire to make a difference in the lives of those she serves. In recognition of her outstanding contributions to nursing and patient advocacy, she has been named a 2025 Top Nurse for New York State, a testament to her dedication and impact in the field.

As she embarks on this next chapter in her career, Elise is excited to apply her experience and expertise in both direct patient care and healthcare leadership. With a passion for holistic, patient-centered care, she looks forward to making a lasting impact on the lives of her patients and the broader healthcare community.
