

Care Providence in Home Adult Care Services will Expand to Jonesboro as Demand Spurts

Senior adult care provider Care Providence is expanding its in-home adult care services to additional cities, including Jonesboro.

Atlanta, Georgia Feb 27, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - According to the CEO, the in-home adult care in Jonesboro will deliver exceptional service to elderly citizens who wish to age at home while their working family members are occupied with their careers during the day.

Jonesboro is a prominent city and the seat of Clayton County, Georgia. The care services will encompass both non-medical and medical care.

In the latter category, Jonesboro Alzheimer's care will concentrate on memory loss patients struggling with Alzheimer's. For these elders, Care Providence will provide tailored therapeutic assistance and personal care services addressing various forms of dementia.

The specialized care will ensure that affected elders have a safe and engaging environment. The compassionate staff will be specifically trained to support Alzheimer's patients.

The CEO stated that the most valuable aspect of the elder care support from Care Providence will be its focus on Activities of Daily Living (ADLs) each day, which helps maintain the independence of the elders. The ADL support provided in home care settings fosters well-being and mental peace, allowing them to live comfortably in their own homes. Assistance with ADLs aids in overcoming limitations due to age, injury, disability, or illness.

The caregiver assures individuals of their dignity, autonomy, and quality of life. Support for self-care activities is vital for overall well-being.

There are basic ADLs (BADLs) and instrumental ADLs (IADLs). Basic ADLs encompass cleanliness and grooming activities, such as toileting, bathing, grooming, oral care, dressing, and eating.

Instrumental ADLs focus on enhanced mobility, including support for walking, transferring, and using assistive devices.

They also involve medication management, such as taking medications as prescribed, and assistance with managing external communications, including finances.

Cost advantage

According to the CEO, in-home adult care in Jonesboro will be cost-effective compared to assisted living, with the added benefit of hiring in-home care staff for both non-medical and medical functions.

The CEO stated that typically, individuals over 65 require care and need vetted care providers who can manage them in a safer environment with professional support, unlike traditional agencies.

There is empathetic care available, including improved solutions for challenging conditions, such as Alzheimer's care in Jonesboro. This is a game-changer for families who do not want to keep their elderly loved ones away, and they can consult Care Providence for any in home daycare requirements.
