Why Choose an IRS Enrolled Agent?

An Enrolled Agent (E.A.) is a federally recognized tax practitioner licensed by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). The designation requires passing a comprehensive three-part IRS examination covering all aspects of taxation. Unlike Certified Public Accountants (CPAs), whose focus is primarily on accounting and financial statement analysis, E.A.s specialize in tax law, providing a deep understanding of tax obligations, compliance, and strategic tax planning.

IRS Enrolled Agents are uniquely positioned to:

- Represent clients in IRS audits and disputes.
- Offer expert tax preparation services for businesses and individuals.
- Provide comprehensive tax planning to minimize liabilities.
- Manage complex tax matters with unlimited practice rights before the IRS.

A Commitment to Excellence and Continued Education

Neugart's dedication to staying informed on evolving tax laws and financial regulations is reinforced through rigorous annual continuing education. This ensures that he remains well-equipped to handle the latest tax challenges and opportunities for his clients.
