New Delhi, Delhi Mar 19, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Dr. Srishti Mahajan, a renowned homeopathic doctor in Delhi NCR, was invited to an awareness conference on cervical cancer and HPV. Organized by MSD in collaboration with NDTV, the event aimed to unite people, especially women, from all walks of life to raise awareness about HPV and cervical cancer.

Cervical cancer continues to claim numerous lives, with reports indicating that a woman loses her life to the disease every eight minutes. Raising awareness about prevention is crucial. This NDTV-led initiative, supported by MSD, focused on educating society about cervical cancer, emphasizing early screening and vaccination as key preventive measures. The conference was held at Hyatt Regency, Bhikaji Cama Place.

Speakers from diverse fields came together to raise awareness about cervical cancer and HPV-related issues in India. The event brought together healthcare professionals, doctors, ASHA workers, policymakers, students, teachers, and school principals to share their efforts in the fight against cervical cancer. Additionally, families of cervical cancer survivors were invited to share their experiences and challenges, offering valuable insights into the journey of both patients and their loved ones.

The primary objective of this awareness event was to unite policymakers, healthcare experts, educators, and parents for an in-depth discussion on preventing cervical cancer and HPV-related diseases in India through simple yet effective preventive measures.

Early screening and timely prevention can save countless women from the dangers of HPV. Events like these play a crucial role in encouraging people to take proactive steps toward safeguarding their health. By participating in this conference, Dr. Srishti Mahajan, one of the leading homeopathic specialist doctor in delhi, reaffirmed her dedication to promoting women's health and combating HPV-related cervical cancer. Let's all pledge to do the same.
