

Helen Blondel's debut rock single, "Red," Releases to all music platforms on February 6th.

Orlando, Florida Feb 3, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - "Red" is a Symphonic Metal track driven by emotion and longing. The lyrics overflow with powerful metaphors describing passion & pain. The chorus is packed with complex harmonies. At minute 2:29 she incorporates a 16-count vocal fermata leading to an ethereal whistle note.

Helen Blondel is a singer-songwriter and belly dancer with Brazilian and Panamanian heritage. With a following of over 700,000 on TikTok, she is known for blending her love of belly dance and music into a unique style. Now, she is set to release her debut rock single, “Red,” on February 6, 2025. This new track stands out because it mixes Symphonic Metal and Alternative sounds, with a hint of R&B. “Red” is a self-written song that explores deep emotions like heartbreak and longing.

Helen credits many artists for inspiring her. She has admired R&B legends like Whitney Houston and Mariah Carey since she was young. As a belly dancer, she also listens to Middle Eastern music by artists such as Faouzia, Elyanna, & Saint Levant. She has enjoyed rock music from bands like Magnolia Park, Bad Omens, and Sleep Theory. These influences help shape her diverse style. In the past, Helen released songs in several genres, such as Oriental Pop, R&B, and Country. This time, she focuses on a rock sound filled with emotion. She hopes her listeners will connect with the raw feelings in the music and lyrics. By blending her background as a dancer and singer, Helen has created a track that stands out in the Symphonic Metal world. She is excited to show fans a new side of her talent. With its dramatic build and soaring vocals, “Red” promises to be a striking first step into a heavier, more powerful sound.
