

UNM Continuing Education and UNM Anderson School of Management to Host Professional Development Conference in April 2025

In-person conference will be held in Albuquerque, NM, April 22-24, 2025

PERSPECTIVES
A Conference Different

- Diverse Networking Opportunities Across Industries
- Insights from Renowned Experts and Thought Leaders
- Interactive Sessions, Engaging Activities and Live Music

Amy Jo Martin
NYT Best Seller

George Aye
Greater Good Studio

Jeremy Graves
Boise State University

April 22-24, 2025 Albuquerque, NM Limited Seats

Albuquerque, New Mexico Feb 5, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - UNM Continuing Education and UNM Anderson School of Management proudly announce "Perspectives: A Conference Different," set to take place from April 22-24, 2025, at the UNM Continuing Education Conference Center. This unique multi-day event promises a dynamic blend of engaging keynote addresses, live music, interactive sessions, and ample networking opportunities, all designed to broaden perspectives and foster cross-sector collaboration among professionals from various industries.

Headlined by Amy Jo Martin, New York Times best-selling author and renowned innovation advocate, the conference will explore a wide range of topics crucial for professional and personal development. Attendees will benefit from sessions focused on leadership, AI, storytelling, communication, and more, led by distinguished experts.

Why Attend?

- Innovative Learning Sessions: Conference topics include leadership strategies, resilience and adaptability, effective communication, persuasion through storytelling, AI in writing, personal branding, marketing, cybersecurity threats, financial growth, design thinking, emotional intelligence, and team-building techniques. See Full Agenda.
- Diverse Networking: Offers dynamic environments for building professional relationships across various industries.

- Cross-Sector Collaboration: Encourages creativity and problem-solving through interdisciplinary interactions.
- Engaging Social Events: Enjoy a Welcome Reception with live music from Felix y Los Gatos, one of Albuquerque's premier local bands, setting the stage for a lively and interactive conference experience.

"We are thrilled to host 'Perspectives: A Conference Different,' which aims to transcend traditional conference boundaries. This event is designed to broaden and share knowledge while forging lasting connections across diverse sectors. Attendees will leave with actionable insights and fresh ideas that can be immediately applied to their professional endeavors and personal growth," said Audrey Arnold, Executive Director of UNM Continuing Education.

Event Details

- When: April 22-24, 2025
- Where: UNM Continuing Education Conference Center, 1634 University Blvd. NE, Albuquerque, NM 87102
- Keynote Speakers: Amy Jo Martin, George Aye, Jeremy Graves
- Cost: $650 - Includes access to all keynotes, CEUs, sessions, meals, and reception. Seating is limited and will be offered on a first-come first-served basis.
- Who Should Attend: Professionals across all industries and levels

For more information and to register, visit ce.unm.edu/Perspectives

Contact

UNM Continuing Education
1634 University Blvd., Albuquerque, NM 87102
Email: cemarketing@unm.edu
Phone: (505) 277-0077

Media Contact

UNM Continuing Education

@unm.edu

(505) 277-0077

1634 University Blvd. NE

Source : UNM Continuing Education

See on IssueWire

