

Aimee Carpenter, RN: A Dedicated Cardiac Nurse at Ochsner Rush Health in Meridian, Mississippi

Bringing Over Two Decades of Expertise and Compassion to Quality Cardiac Care

New York City, New York Mar 11, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - Ochsner Rush Health proudly announces the continued dedication of Aimee Carpenter, RN, as a Cardiac Catheterization Laboratory Nurse. With a robust 20-year nursing career, including a decade specializing in cardiac procedures, Aimee's extensive background makes her a valuable asset to the healthcare community in Meridian.

Aimee holds a Degree from Bevill State Community College and has dedicated herself to the nursing profession, working in diverse environments across the country. She has spent five years in travel nursing, gaining experience in various healthcare settings, from small rural hospitals to Level 1 transplant centers. Most recently, Aimee completed a year-long travel assignment at Duke University Hospital, where she honed her skills in advanced cardiac care.

Her proficiency encompasses a wide range of catheterization and electrophysiology procedures, including cutting-edge techniques like mitral clips and Transcatheter Aortic Valve Replacement (TAVR). With 24 years of experience as an Advanced Cardiovascular Life Support (ACLS)-certified instructor, Aimee brings an unparalleled depth of knowledge to her role. Before her nursing career, she served as a Nationally Registered Emergency Medical Technician-Paramedic (NREMT-P), a background that has greatly influenced her critical thinking and decision-making skills in high-pressure situations.

Aimee's passion for cardiac nursing is evident in her commitment to providing exceptional patient care. She thrives in collaborative team environments and believes that a strong team dynamic is essential for achieving positive patient outcomes. Currently RCIS eligible, Aimee plans to take the credentialing exam soon, with aspirations to take on leadership or clinical educator roles in the Cath Lab, aiming to inspire and mentor the next generation of nurses.

Aimee credits her success to the invaluable guidance of her mentors, particularly her mother and aunt, both of whom were nurses. Their dedication to patient care and compassion deeply influenced her professional journey. Aimee's competitive spirit, combined with her deep empathy, enables her to deliver compassionate, patient-centered care that makes a lasting impact on those she serves.
