Lakeland, Florida Mar 26, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Following months of anticipation in the AI and martech industries, MBC Software, in a newly finalized strategic partnership with Crespo Partners, officially announces the launch of Crespo AI—an all-in-one AI-powered marketing and business automation platform designed for entrepreneurs, startups, and growing businesses.

This announcement marks a major milestone in the evolution of AI-driven business solutions, reinforcing previous reports on the platform's development. With over 30 integrated applications, Crespo AI provides a seamless, intuitive solution for business owners looking to automate marketing and streamline operations.

"From the beginning, our mission has been to democratize AI for businesses of all sizes," said Bryan Jaglal, Founder of MBC Software. "Crespo AI is the realization of that vision, integrating powerful AI-driven tools into a single platform—without the complexity or high costs typically associated with enterprise AI."

What's Inside Crespo AI?

Crespo AI offers an extensive suite of tools within a single platform, eliminating the need for multiple disjointed subscriptions. The platform includes AI-enhanced content creation for instant video, image, and voiceover generation, as well as automated marketing tools such as SEO optimization, high-converting hooks, and eCommerce product descriptions.

The platform also features a website and funnel builder, enabling users to develop and host websites, blogs, AI-powered chatbots, forms, and sales funnels within one dashboard. Business automation tools include a CRM, invoicing generator, task flow manager, virtual data storage and a business phone system.

"Entrepreneurs shouldn't have to choose between affordability and cutting-edge technology," said Jaglal. "Crespo AI is built to bridge that gap, offering an enterprise-level experience at a price point that works for small businesses."

Over the past year, MBC Software has been at the forefront of AI-driven business solutions. Now, with the finalization of its partnership with Crespo Partners, the company is poised to accelerate adoption and bring AI-powered marketing to the masses.

The official launch of Crespo AI is set for May 1, 2025, with a beta testing phase opening in April. Businesses interested in early access and exclusive updates can subscribe at crespopartners.org.

Priced at just $50 per month, Crespo AI offers an accessible solution for businesses of all sizes. For larger teams, the platform includes discounted pricing on additional seats.

With its first official product rollout just weeks away, Crespo AI is already developing future integrations aimed at fintech solutions, AI-enhanced analytics, and next-generation automation tools. As AI adoption continues to reshape the digital economy, Crespo AI is positioned as a leading solution for businesses looking to stay ahead in an increasingly competitive market.

"The technology is here, the market is ready and businesses are demanding better AI solutions. Crespo AI delivers exactly that."
