About Maui Adventure Tours Kayak Co.

The founder of Maui Adventure Tours Kayak Co. is Roger Poel. He possesses a profound knowledge of marine sciences and has amassed a significant amount of guiding experience, over 21 years to be specific. With that, Roger holds a PADI Pro DiveMaster certification, which in combination with his extensive guide experience allows him to seamlessly provide memorable and educational experiences on excursions. As an additional asset to the company, he and his team are certified Hawaii Marine Naturalists and have received American Red Cross Lifeguard training. Roger, the team, and the American Red Cross trained lifeguards provide extensive marine conservation focus in their guidance ensuring guests receive knowledgeable assistance.

Guests paddle through the crystal clear waters while being offered a chance to snorkel while a Hawaiian green turtle. All of this occurs on Olowalu Beach, a location also often referred to as 'sea life central' due to its immense diversity of sea animals. It is also home to some of the most beautiful coral reefs.

Guests are provided with a unique chance to take a close look at a humpback whale during its migration, a sight that occurs from the months of December all the way through Mid-April. This tour provides guests with a great marine adventure with a seamless combination of snorkeling, whale watching, and kayaking all in one trip.

This is one of the best options for families, as the tour offers them a slow introduction to snorkeling by making it accessible right off of the beaches' shore. We also provide a visit to the famous Turtle Reef to combine some of Maui's most popular spots for vibrant reef snorkeling.

Commitment to Safety and Education

At Maui Adventure Tours Kayak Co, safety comes first. Guides hold two-way VHF marine radios and are trained in CPR and First Aid. Every tour includes some level of education, where guides discuss whale watching, marine ecology, and the cultural history of the Hawaiian Islands during the voyage, so each tourist gets the best experience.

Environmental Stewardship

As an active supporter of marine conservation, the company works in conjunction with the Pacific Whale Foundation and Project AWARE. Tours are conducted with regard to the environment and wildlife, paying special attention to water quality. With the help of the tourists, the delicate ecosystem of Maui can be preserved for the future.
