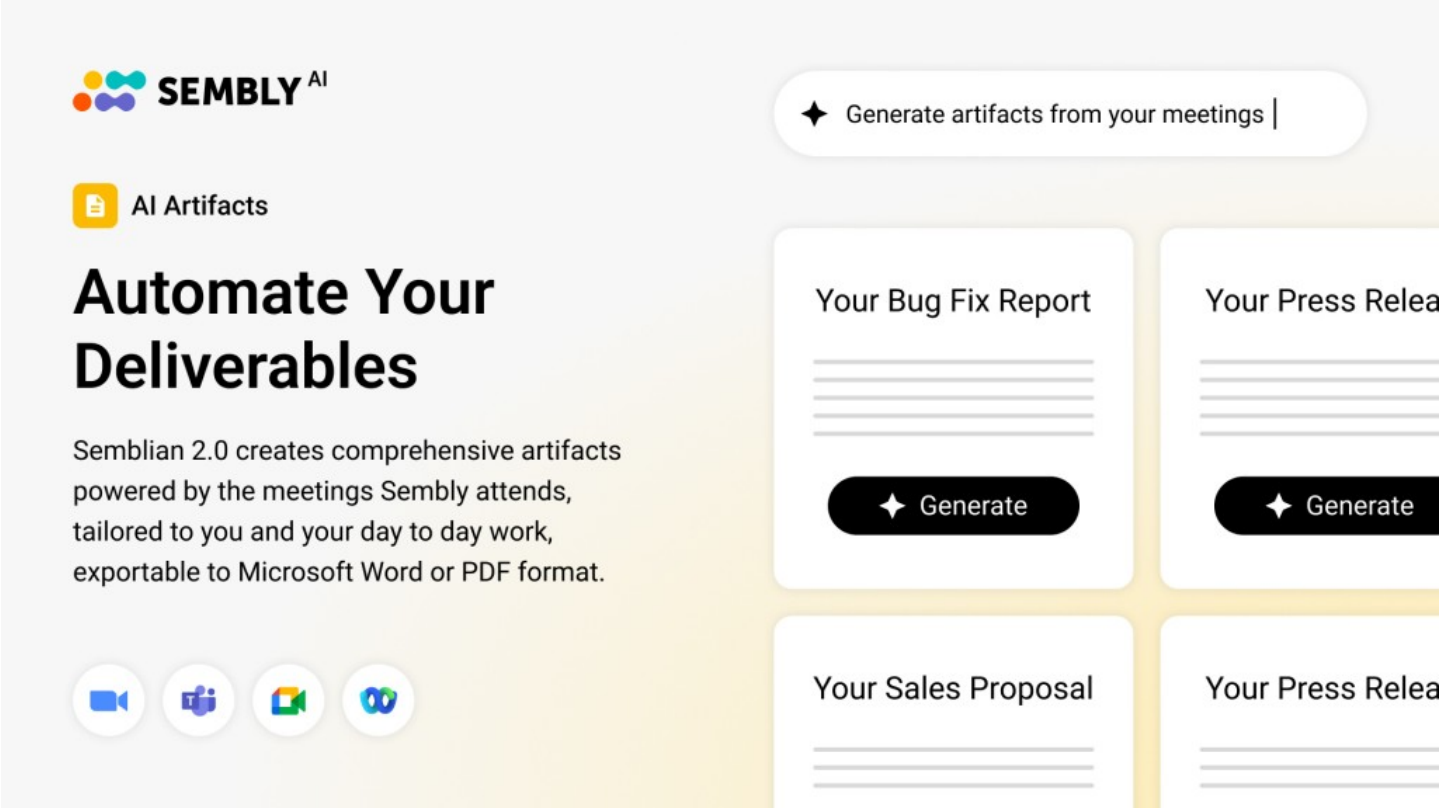
NYC AI Startup Launches Augmented Worker Intelligence Tool

Sembly AI is already revolutionizing productivity for over 1,000 global companies



New York City, New York Mar 26, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Sembly AI, a leading AI productivity platform powered by Agentic technology and trusted by over 1,000 companies worldwide, announces the release of Semblian 2.0, a groundbreaking advancement in Augmented Worker Intelligence.

Recognized as an Emerging Visionary on the AI General Productivity Gartner Magic Quadrant, this revolutionary AI-powered Work Assistant supercharges employee productivity by generating hyper-personalized deliverables in Word and PDF formats, streamlining post-meeting workflows, and creating space for strategic innovation. The platform is estimated to deliver operational savings exceeding $2.7M annually for every 100 users within a company.

Semblian 2.0 turns meetings into actionable outputs, producing ready-to-use documents, tailored reports, and strategic insights with minimal human input. By aligning meeting outcomes with individual and team objectives, the platform crafts next-step deliverables that are 80% complete, allowing employees to concentrate on high-impact tasks.

According to an Atlassian study, professionals lose 31 hours monthly to inefficient meetings, contributing to 66 billion wasted hours annually in the U.S. alone. Sembly AI eradicates this inefficiency, seamlessly converting discussions into tangible, actionable results.

“Our mission is to bridge the gap between meetings and measurable results. With Semblian 2.0, we’re not just automating tasks — we're empowering teams to focus on strategic innovation while keeping humans in control," said Gil Makleff, CEO and Co-founder of Sembly AI.

Semblian 2.0 doesn't just capture meeting content; it intelligently synthesizes insights across multiple discussions, delivering executive summaries, analytics, and actual work deliverables like SWOT analysis and SOW documents. This capability enables leaders to make rapid, informed decisions and align strategic initiatives more effectively.

In HR, Semblian 2.0 transforms interviews, feedback sessions, and training meetings into AI-powered insights. The platform automates compliance report generation and optimizes recruitment processes, allowing HR teams to make data-driven decisions without getting bogged down in manual documentation.

Built for organizational needs, Sembly AI offers GDPR and SOC-2 compliance, as well as HIPAA, providing a secure, enterprise-ready solution. With 10,000+ monthly users processing over 80,000 meetings globally, Sembly AI is setting the gold standard for workplace productivity. The company, with over $8M in funding, is poised to lead the $15B+ global market for AI-driven productivity solutions.

About Sembly AI: Founded in 2019 by Gil Makleff and Artem Koren, Sembly AI pioneers Augmented Worker Intelligence, enhancing corporate productivity without disrupting existing workflows. Sembly automatically joins your calls with no downloads or installs and instantly increases the productivity of your team with AI and automated post-meeting magic. The founders, with 40 years of combined experience in Fortune 500 transformation efforts, have crafted a platform that helps companies not only work smarter but redefine the very nature of workplace efficiency.
