To promote the artists, the website offers four marketing packages that not only focus on increasing Spotify streams but also the overall picture in the media. These packages include both content marketing and social media marketing for greater impact.

The first Spotify Promo package is called the 'Spotify Marketing Package' that lets artists add their tracks to over 60 curated Spotify playlists, helping them gain at least 3000-3500 listeners. The tracks will grow on Spotify organically as this package also comes with a paid press release distribution, bringing more media attention.

The third package is called the 'Spotify Marketing Pro Pack', where artists can promote a total of 3 tracks. The tracks will be added to more than 120 specially curated Spotify playlists. This added to social media posting, would generate 10,000-11,000 listeners along with online engagement. This package will target audiences according to the genre and style of the song, making sure every stream is organic. This package also includes a paid press release distribution and a music blog. The last and fourth package is called the 'Spotify Promotion Pro Pack', where artists can promote a total of 4 tracks at once.
