

The Voice of a Generation Returns: Award Winning Author Joanne Marie's Fierce New Book, I Am Not A Nice Christian Girl

A Fire Starter. A Movement. A Voice That Will Echo Through Generations.

Los Angeles, California Mar 26, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Joanne Marie, the visionary artist who once brought the world to tears and triumph with her solo play Beautiful, is once again setting the stage for a global awakening. Her latest work, I Am Not A Nice Christian Girl, is not just a book—it's a divine disruption. A prophetic call. A mirror held up to culture, religion, and womanhood itself.

With a voice that has been called the sound of this generation, Jozanne is not asking for permission—she is making space. This book is for every woman who has ever been told to quiet down, shrink back, or soften her light in the name of being “nice.”

I Am Not A Nice Christian Girl dares to ask the questions many women of faith have been silently holding. Through powerful storytelling, unfiltered truth, and a bold reclaiming of divine identity, Jozanne exposes the lie that being good means being small.

This is not a rebellion—it's a resurrection.

It is the continuation of a movement that began with Beautiful, a solo play that ignited global conversations about trauma, faith, and womanhood. That fire blazed through the pages of her book Beautiful Unashamed and Unafraid, and now, in I Am Not A Nice Christian Girl, it burns with new intensity and a new perspective. The anticipation is real—we can feel the shift already. When this book drops, the world won't be the same.

This book is for:

- The disruptor in the pew.
- The truth-teller was silenced too long.
- The warrior is wrapped in grace.
- The woman who knows she was made for more.

I Am Not A Nice Christian Girl isn't just a title. It's a declaration. A line in the sand. A new way forward.

For press inquiries, speaking engagements, or media appearances, please contact Jozanne Marie

About Jozanne Marie

Jozanne Marie is a partner at an emerging production company dedicated to championing bold storytelling and elevating diverse voices across film, television, and digital media. She is an award-winning author, actress, on-the-rise producer, Ted Talk speaker, and fearless advocate for the voiceless.

Her groundbreaking solo play, Beautiful, didn't just grace the stage—it ignited a global conversation around identity, faith, and resilience. Her bestselling book, Beautiful Unashamed and Unafraid, became a rallying cry for women ready to reclaim their voice and power.

A visionary and true cultural architect, Jozanne fuses art, faith, and authenticity to awaken hearts and stir movements. She is the founder of Run Tings, a luxury shoe brand that inspires creative entrepreneurs to take bold steps and lead with style.

From center stage to behind the scenes, and with her exotic, beautiful appearance and eclectic fashion forwardness, Jozanne Marie is a voice for our time—calling generations to rise, speak, and live unashamed.

The book launches later this year—and let's just say, Jozanne has stepped fully into her era. The foreword, penned by a woman whose name we are keeping under wraps for now (well, her reps did not disclose) comes from a global icon—a leader whose influence has quite literally shifted the atmosphere of the world.

With this new release, Jozanne Marie emerges not only as a writer but as a movement in motion—an embodiment of what happens when a woman fully owns her voice, her power, and her purpose.

Media Contact

Women On The Move

@womenonthemove.com

Source : Simon and Schuster Publishing

See on IssueWire