

Adventure Awaits: 10-Year-Old North Carolina Author Releases Her First Book

PRESS RELEASE

Adventure Awaits: 10-Year-Old North Carolina Author Releases Her First Book

The Adventure Girls: Dinosaurs & Eggs by 10-year-old Cora Lanz is officially out today, April 1, 2025, through KHB Publishing. This debut middle-grade novel, written and illustrated by Cora herself, introduces young readers to an exciting adventure that blends mystery, dinosaurs, and prehistoric thrills.

The story follows two sisters, Cora and Claire, who are unexpectedly swept into a wild and ancient world after discovering a mysterious egg. The novel marks the first book in what will be a series called The Adventure Girls. Designed for readers in grades 3–6, the book is filled with page-turning action, clever twists, humor, and heart.

What makes the book even more engaging is the 13 bonus pages at the end, featuring Cora's own dinosaur illustrations, along with a blank page for readers to draw their own dinosaur creations.

"Cora has a natural gift for storytelling and a big creative spirit," says Kalyn Slagle of KHB Publishing. "From the moment we connected, we knew she had something truly special, and we are thrilled to share her debut with readers everywhere."

Cora, who is homeschooled, is quickly becoming an inspiration for young readers and aspiring writers across the country.

The book is now available on Amazon in hardcover, paperback, and Kindle formats, and it can also be ordered through the Ingram catalog for bookstores, libraries, and schools.

For more information, interviews, or event inquiries, please contact Kalyn Slagle at KHB Publishing.

Winston-Salem, North Carolina Apr 2, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - The Adventure Girls: Dinosaurs & Eggs by 10-year-old Cora Lanz is officially out today, April 1, 2025, through KHB Publishing. This debut middle-grade novel, written and illustrated by Cora herself, introduces young readers to an exciting adventure that blends mystery, dinosaurs, and prehistoric thrills.

The story follows two sisters, Cora and Claire, who are unexpectedly swept into a wild and ancient world after discovering a mysterious egg. The novel marks the first book in what will be a series called The Adventure Girls. Designed for readers in grades 3–6, the book is filled with page-turning action, clever twists, humor, and heart.

What makes the book even more engaging is the 13 bonus pages at the end, featuring Cora’s own dinosaur illustrations, along with a blank page for readers to draw their own dinosaur creations.

“Cora has a natural gift for storytelling and a big creative spirit,” says Kalyn Slagle of KHB Publishing. “From the moment we connected, we knew she had something truly special, and we are thrilled to share her debut with readers everywhere.”

Cora, who is homeschooled, is quickly becoming an inspiration for young readers and aspiring writers across the country.

The book is now available on Amazon in hardcover, paperback, and Kindle formats, and it can also be ordered through the Ingram catalog for bookstores, libraries, and schools.

Available now on Amazon: The Adventure Girls: Dinosaurs & Eggs: Lanz, Cora: 9798987438848: Amazon.com: Books

Available now on Barnes & Noble: The Adventure Girls: Dinosaurs & Eggs by Cora Lanz, Paperback | Barnes & Noble®

For more information, interviews, or event inquiries, please contact Kalyn Slagle at KHB Publishing.

Media Contact

KHB Publishing, LLC

@khbpublishing.com

7067019248

Source : KHB Publishing, LLC

See on IssueWire