

Aipix is all-in-one platform for telecom operators launch, manage, and monetize Value-Added Services (VAS)

Warszawa, Mazowieckie Jun 26, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Aipix, a leading innovator in telecom technology solutions, has officially unveiled its all-in-one platform designed to revolutionize the way telecom operators launch, manage, and monetize Value-Added Services (VAS). With the introduction of its user-centric portal, Aipix is setting a new industry benchmark for speed, scalability, and revenue generation.

The Aipix VAS Platform is a unified, end-to-end solution tailored to empower telecom providers with faster go-to-market capabilities and simplified service orchestration. Designed to eliminate the traditional complexities of deploying VAS, the platform combines content management, billing integration, campaign automation, and customer engagement tools — under one roof.

“We recognized the critical need for telecom operators to rapidly adapt and monetize new services in an increasingly competitive landscape,” said Alex Baiko, Senior Architect at Aipix. “With our platform, we’re not just simplifying VAS deployment — we’re completely transforming it.”

Key Features of the Aipix VAS Platform Include:

- Rapid Service Launch via module architecture and plug-and-play architecture enabling deployment within 7 days, not months.
- User Portal as an intuitive interface allowing operators to configure, test, and go live with services instantly.
- Monetization Engine via open API and built-in tools for subscription management, payment gateway integration, and performance analytics.
- Multi-Tenant Delivery for scalable distribution across B2B, B2C, B2G segment.

The Aipix platform has already seen strong adoption among Tier-1 and Tier-2 telecom operators across emerging and developed markets, driving significant growth in ARPU (Average Revenue Per User) and customer retention.
