

alt.f coworking Expands to Hyderabad's Financial District With a Brand-New Launch on 1st May 2025

alt.f coworking - Seen on Shark Tank India Season 4, the fast-growing coworking brand brings its signature flexible workspaces to South India.

Hyderabad, Telangana Apr 22, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - alt.f coworking, one of India's most talked-about coworking space companies and a notable name from Shark Tank India Season 4, is making headlines again—this time with its much-awaited entry into the vibrant city of Hyderabad. Backed by founders Yogesh Arora and Sarthak Chhabra, alt.f coworking is set to launch its state-of-the-art coworking space in the heart of Hyderabad's Financial District on 1st May 2025.

The Financial District, often referred to as Hyderabad's business nucleus, is home to global IT giants, fintech firms, and ambitious startups. alt.f coworking's arrival marks a new chapter in the district's evolution—offering not just workspaces but a dynamic ecosystem tailored for modern entrepreneurs, freelancers, MSMEs, and enterprise teams.

alt.f coworking has quickly become a household name in the flexible workspace industry, known for transforming how India works. Their spaces are a blend of utility, design, and experience—offering everything from team rooms and private cabins to day passes, meeting rooms, and virtual offices. More than just workstations, each property is crafted to inspire productivity and collaboration through premium amenities, community-led initiatives, and flexible plans.

What makes this launch particularly exciting is the momentum alt.f coworking has gained since its feature on Shark Tank India. The brand impressed both investors and audiences alike with its clear vision, strong business fundamentals, and deep understanding of what modern businesses truly need. With a growing footprint across Delhi NCR and recent expansions into Noida and Gurgaon, Hyderabad is the next strategic leap forward for the company.

“Hyderabad, especially its Financial District, has emerged as a hotbed of innovation and enterprise. It’s the perfect place for alt.f coworking to bring our flexible office solutions and vibrant community,” said Yogesh Arora, co-founder of alt.f coworking. His co-founder, Sarthak Chhabra, added, “This is not just a launch—it’s a statement. We’re building a future-ready workspace for India’s next generation of creators, disruptors, and dreamers.”

The new center will be designed with alt.f’s signature aesthetic—premium interiors, ergonomic furniture, breakout zones, 24/7 access, high-speed internet, and all-inclusive pricing—ensuring that members focus on growth, not logistics.

As the countdown begins to 1st May 2025, alt.f coworking is already seeing strong inquiries and pre-bookings from companies keen to set up in one of Hyderabad’s most prestigious commercial zones. With a reputation for creating scalable, flexible, and community-first environments, alt.f coworking’s entry is set to energize the city’s startup and business ecosystem like never before.
