Her academic journey includes a notable achievement: recognition from the Ohio Senate for being the first College Credit Plus (CCP) student in the program's history to graduate from YSU before completing high school.

Before embarking on her real estate career, Bianca gained invaluable experience in media sales at WKBN 27 Youngstown. This role allowed her to develop a strong foundation in retail sales, marketing management, and client engagement. Her background in media has equipped her with exceptional communication skills and a deep understanding of customer relationships—qualities she now brings to her real estate practice.

A fresh and driven agent, Bianca possesses a keen understanding of market dynamics and a professional approach to every transaction. She is committed to providing personalized service to her clients, whether they are first-time homebuyers or seasoned investors. Her innovative marketing strategies and expertise in leveraging the latest tools ensure that clients achieve their real estate goals with confidence.

Bianca attributes her success to her commitment to honesty, meticulous attention to detail, and strong networking skills. Her approach is centered on building lasting relationships, and she is dedicated to remaining a trusted resource for her clients long after their transactions are complete.

Outside of her professional endeavors, Bianca enjoys a balanced lifestyle that includes holistic living, clean eating, and regular visits to the gym. She loves baking and experimenting with new recipes to share with friends and family. A strong advocate for community service, Bianca volunteers with the Salvation Army's soup kitchen, Toys for Tots, and Poland Schools, where she has organized auction baskets to support local sports teams.

With the resources of Coldwell Banker EvenBay and her local market insights, Bianca Patrone is ready to help clients navigate the complexities of buying and selling property.
