

Caleb Wutawunashe, MD: A Rising Star in Cardiology

Dr. Wutawunashe's Journey from Zimbabwe to Cutting-Edge Cardiac Research and Care in New York City

New York City, New York Apr 20, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Caleb Wutawunashe, MD, a dedicated physician originally from Harare, Zimbabwe, has emerged as a promising leader in the field of cardiology. After earning his Medical Degree from St. George's University School of Medicine in Grenada in 2018, Dr. Wutawunashe has made significant strides in his medical career, focusing on innovative research and exceptional patient care in the bustling medical landscape of New York City.

Dr. Wutawunashe completed his residency in internal medicine at Lenox Hill Hospital in New York from June 2018 to June 2021. His commitment to excellence in healthcare did not stop there; he further honed his expertise by completing a fellowship in advanced cardiac imaging with a focus on cardiac CT and Cardiac MRI from September 2021 to June 2022. Currently, he is on the cusp of completing a fellowship in general cardiology and will then complete his final year of training as an interventional cardiologist in 2026. He will be amongst the very few cardiologists with expertise in both advanced cardiac imaging and minimally invasive techniques of interventional cardiology.

With a keen interest in preventive cardiology, imaging, and coronary intervention, Dr. Wutawunashe's research encompasses various critical areas, including cardiac CT, cardiac MRI, interventional cardiology, and cardiogenic shock. His work aims to enhance the understanding and treatment of cardiovascular diseases, striving to improve patient outcomes and reduce the incidence of heart-related illnesses.

Dr. Wutawunashe is a Diplomate of the American Board of Internal Medicine (ABIM), board-certified in Cardiac CT as well as echocardiography, demonstrating his commitment to maintaining the highest standards of medical practice. The ABIM is a respected nonprofit organization that certifies physicians in internal medicine and its subspecialties. He is also licensed to practice medicine in New York, further solidifying his role as a trusted physician in the community.

As Dr. Caleb Wutawunashe continues his medical career, he remains dedicated to bridging the gap between innovative cardiac research and practical, patient-centered care, ensuring that he contributes significantly to the future of cardiology.
