Australian Capital Territory, Australia Apr 2, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Kundan jewellery is a traditional form of Indian jewellery that is renowned for its intricate craftsmanship and timeless beauty. Made with uncut gemstones set in a gold or gold-plated base, Kundan jewellery is often seen at weddings, festivals, and other grand occasions. If you're interested in exploring the different types of Kundan jewellery sets, here's a breakdown of some popular styles and their unique features.

Traditional Kundan Jewellery: Traditional Kundan sets are the epitome of grandeur and luxury. They feature large uncut gemstones, such as diamonds, rubies, emeralds, and sapphires, which are set in gold or gold-plated frames. These pieces often incorporate intricate designs and meenakari (enamel work) on the reverse side, adding to their vibrancy.

Polki Kundan Jewellery Set

Polki Kundan jewellery features uncut diamonds, offering a more sophisticated and regal look. Unlike modern diamonds, Polki diamonds are raw and unpolished, giving them a rustic charm while maintaining a luxurious appeal.

Meenakari Kundan Jewellery Set

Meenakari Kundan jewellery combines the beauty of Kundan work with colorful enamel painting. These sets often showcase floral or geometric patterns, adding an artistic flair to the design.

Contemporary Kundan Jewellery Set

Modern interpretations of Kundan jewellery are more delicate and versatile, often incorporating pearls, crystals, and other materials. These sets are lighter and can be worn for both casual and formal occasions. In conclusion, Kundan jewellery offers a variety of styles, each with its own unique characteristics, making it a versatile and elegant choice for any occasion. Whether you prefer traditional grandeur or modern chic, there's a Kundan set to suit your style.
