Raising the Bar for Veterinary Excellence Across South Florida

New York City, New York Apr 25, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Simona Buoncompagni, DVM, DACVIM, is proud to serve as a distinguished Clinician specializing in Internal Medicine, Urinary Diseases, Ultrasound, and Extracorporeal Therapies at LeadER Animal Specialty Hospital in Boca Raton, Florida. With her extensive education and remarkable dedication to animal health, Dr. Buoncompagni continues to elevate the standard of veterinary care in South Florida.

Her impressive journey in veterinary medicine began in her native Italy, where she graduated with honors from the School of Biosciences and Veterinary Medicine at the University of Camerino in 2002. Dr. Buoncompagni later earned a Master's Degree in Gastroenterology and Endoscopy for Small Animals from the University of Veterinary Medicine of Teramo, further deepening her expertise.

After moving to the United States, Dr. Buoncompagni completed a rigorous Small Animal Internal Medicine Residency at Oklahoma State University. Her commitment to excellence is reflected in her ACVIM Board Certification in Small Animal Internal Medicine and her Hemodialysis Certification from the University of California, Davis.

Dr. Buoncompagni is not only a skilled clinician but also an active contributor to the veterinary community. She is affiliated with several prestigious organizations, including the American College of Veterinary Internal Medicine, the American College of Veterinary Nephrology and Urology, the American Society of Nephrology, the American Veterinary Medical Association, the Veterinary Interventional Radiology and Interventional Endoscopy Society, and the American Society of Veterinary Nephrology and Urology, where she serves as a member At-Large. Her Fellowship in Urinary Disease and Extracorporeal Therapies at the University of California, San Diego, solidified her expertise in these specialized fields.

Throughout her career, Dr. Buoncompagni has made significant contributions to veterinary medicine across the globe, holding clinical roles in Sweden, Germany, Australia, and England. She founded Veterinary Internal Medicine Express (VIME), a pioneering mobile internal medicine referral service in Oklahoma, which greatly improved access to specialized care for pets.

An esteemed educator, Dr. Buoncompagni has lectured internationally and authored numerous articles in veterinary literature, showcasing her passion for advancing the field. At LeadER Animal Specialty Hospital, she is committed to enhancing animal health through innovative treatments and compassionate care.

Dr. Simona Buoncompagni is a respected figure in veterinary medicine, and her work at LeadER Animal Specialty Hospital marks a dynamic chapter in the ongoing pursuit of clinical excellence and improved outcomes for pets in the Boca Raton community and beyond.
