“To me, music is a conversation between two hearts,” says Eduard Palchyk.

“I compose when there is space in my soul for a melody — that’s where the music is born. My goal is to give listeners moments of peace, inspiration, and a deep sense of being fully present.”

Palchyk’s musical style doesn’t confine itself to classical foundations — it boldly steps beyond the traditional, incorporating modern rhythms, cinematic harmonies, and raw emotional expression. His compositions resonate with a broad audience, from classical enthusiasts to those seeking meditative music for daily life.

“Through my compositions, I aim to create moments that inspire joy and reflection, encouraging listeners to embrace the beauty of the present moment.”

The composer is also working to raise funds to record his music with a live orchestra, featuring violin, cello, and clarinet, to bring even greater depth and expression to his sound. Everyone who supports his work becomes a part of the next chapter in the journey of an independent Ukrainian composer.
