The stories are for young adults and older persons. All stories are suitable for making short videos or audios for OTT screening and for TV or the big screen. Four of them are romantic stories and eight of the stories cover humorous events at school and college. Two are hunting stories-one involves a supernatural event while the other gives a lesson on wild life conservation. One story is a crime and suspense mystery. Another story is a story about ghosts which delivers a message. Another one is a science fiction story which delivers a strong message on the dangers of climate change.

A review of his book says, "An engrossing collection of stories of diverse genres. The appeal of the book lies in the author's ability to arouse the reader's curiosity since most of the tales have a surprise ending. Singh takes us to the world of ghosts, accidental murders, romantic encounters, dream sequences, eccentric professors, college pranks and fun filled anecdotes."

2. Sueños by Ukiyoto International Children's Book Awards 2025

Kiran Kumar Singh won the Young Adult Book Award for his book 'The Five Friends Battle Against Aliens.' Ukiyoto Publishing is translating it into Spanish and preparing a screen play for movie production.

A review of this mentions, "Engaging plot, interesting characters, and a gripping ending. A must read for the young and old interested in adventure, magic and fantasy. The author sets a fast pace in the beginning and sustains it throughout the plot, peppering it with humor and suspense. I thoroughly enjoyed reading this wonderful story."

Reviews for the book: The author has created an absorbing story involving ten American and Indian kids who save this planet from evil spirits. The book is a gripping fantasy laced with magic, mind-reading devices, telepathy and fast paced action spread across continents. Battles are fought with an assortment of latest weapons. The exciting storytelling is sprinkled with dialogues laced with humor. Teenagers and older people will enjoy the book

- A Fruitful Indo-American Collaboration in Education

The book 'An Educational Odyssey' is the biography of Dr. R.K. Singh who received a Doctorate in Education from Harvard University in the USA and became the head of an obscure college in India. With the help of American experts he raised it to become the best Agriculture College in India renowned for its research. US President Dwight Eisenhower visited it in 1959 and later Lyndon Johnson also visited.

During 1965-66 Dr. Singh spent a year at Gary, Indiana as the US Federal Government sponsored Expert in Asian Education to produce course work material about India for the school system. The newspaper headlines were 'India Educator is Unofficial Envoy to Gary' –a role he played excellently.

Returning to India in 1966 he headed the Meerut University. The Indian Higher Education System was a relic of the ineffective British Colonial System. Dr. Singh introduced the efficient American Semester System at Meerut and later at Himachal University thereby making much needed reforms which were followed by all other universities and revolutionized Indian Education.
