Planning without the paperwork—now available to everyone on iOS and Android.

Sioux Falls, South Dakota May 12, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - EverAfter, the all-in-one platform for end-of-life planning, announces the public release of its mobile app, now available on the App Store and Google Play. Previously accessible only through select employers, the EverAfter app is now open to everyone—making legacy planning easier, more human, and always within reach.

Built to help users prepare for life's most difficult moments, EverAfter allows individuals to create a legally sound will, track their assets in real-time, leave behind meaningful messages, and preserve memories for loved ones. It's the only app that brings together all these essential tools in a simple, compassionate experience.

"This public launch is a major milestone," said Brady Rust, Founder and CEO of EverAfter. "We're removing the friction from end-of-life planning and empowering more people to take control of their legacy—on their own terms, from their phone."

Designed for ease and emotional impact, EverAfter blends modern tech with human care. With just a few taps, users can safeguard their wishes, protect their families, and ensure nothing important gets left behind.

For employers, EverAfter also represents a forward-thinking benefit—supporting employees through grief, improving productivity, and helping HR teams address life’s most overlooked challenge: death.
