

Gail K. Shue: Transforming Patient Care in Winston-Salem, North Carolina

A Dedicated Nurse Committed to Enhancing Lives through Compassionate Care and Expertise

New York City, New York May 9, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - Gail Shue, a distinguished nurse and Trauma Systems Nurse Coordinator at Atrium Health Wake Forest Baptist, is making significant strides in the healthcare community of Winston-Salem, North Carolina. With over three decades of experience in nursing, Shue is a passionate advocate for her patients, dedicated to improving their quality of life through exceptional care and unwavering commitment to the nursing profession.

Her educational journey is a testament to her dedication to the field. She earned her Bachelor of Science in Nursing from the University of North Carolina at Charlotte in 1990, followed by a Diploma in Legal Nurse Consulting in 2000. Her pursuit of knowledge continued with a Master of Science in Nursing Education from American Sentinel University in 2016, culminating in a Doctor of Nursing Practice from Post University in 2022. This extensive education equips her with the skills and expertise necessary to navigate the complexities of patient care effectively.

As a Trauma Systems Nurse Coordinator, Shue plays a pivotal role in trauma care, focusing on enhancing patient outcomes through effective communication, safety protocols, and trust-building with patients and their families. Her leadership in this critical area of healthcare not only demonstrates her clinical expertise but also highlights her passion for advocating for patients during their most vulnerable moments.

Gail is a dedicated Guide for the Struggle Well Program, a transformative initiative sponsored by the Boulder Crest Foundation. Renowned as the home of Posttraumatic Growth (PTG), Boulder Crest provides life-changing programs—completely free of charge—to military service members, veterans, first responders, and their families.

Rather than offering another wellness program, Boulder Crest takes a comprehensive, culture-shifting approach aimed at transforming the mindset within active-duty military and first responder communities.

The Struggle Well Program is guided by two core objectives: to normalize the struggles that naturally arise in the lives of those who serve, and to democratize the ability to navigate those struggles with resilience and purpose.

Through Struggle Well training, participants learn to transform adversity into strength and growth, ultimately enhancing their ability to serve themselves, their loved ones, their communities, and their country.

Gail's contributions to the nursing community have not gone unnoticed. She is a proud graduate of the North Carolina Nursing Association Leadership Academy (2018) and was honored with the Pioneering Spirit Award by the International Critical Incident Stress Foundation in 2019. These accolades reflect her commitment to excellence in nursing and her influential role in shaping the future of healthcare in North Carolina.

Active in various professional societies, including the Society of Trauma Nurses, Society of Critical Care Medicine, and Emergency Nurses Association, Gail Shue stays connected with the latest advancements in her field. Her involvement in these organizations underscores her dedication to continuous learning and professional development.

Gail attributes her success to her passion for nursing and her unwavering desire to advocate for her patients. "Every day, I strive to make a difference in the lives of those I care for," she says. "It is my privilege to serve my community and ensure that every patient receives the highest standard of care."
