

Leading Infectious Diseases Physician Matthew McCall, MD, Expands Patient Care in Atlanta

A Key Partner in Delivering Specialized Infectious Disease Services at Atlanta Clinical Care

New York City, New York May 20, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - Atlanta Clinical Care, LLC is proud to highlight the continued dedication of Matthew McCall, MD, a board-certified infectious diseases physician and Partner at the practice. Dr. McCall brings a wealth of expertise and commitment to patient care, serving the Atlanta metropolitan area and beyond with a focus on complex infectious diseases.

With staff appointments at Emory Saint Joseph's Hospital, Northside Hospital Atlanta, Northside Hospital Cherokee, and Northside Hospital Forsyth, Dr. McCall is well-positioned to provide cutting-edge care for patients facing challenging infections. His special interests include bacterial, viral, and mycotic infections, with a particular focus on fungal infections, solid organ transplants, and bone marrow transplant infections. He also offers specialized care for viral infections, including HIV and hepatitis (A, B, C).

Atlanta Clinical Care is a full-service infectious disease specialty practice dedicated to serving the needs of patients in metro Atlanta and across Georgia. The practice includes four board-certified infectious disease specialists, two specially trained physician assistants, and two nurse practitioners, all of whom work collaboratively to provide hospital and office-based consultations, ongoing treatment, and office-based infusion services.

Dr. McCall earned his Bachelor of Arts Degree from the University of Pittsburgh and his Medical Degree from the Lewis Katz School of Medicine at Temple University. He completed his residency in internal medicine at the Western Pennsylvania Hospital in Pittsburgh, where he was honored to serve as Chief Resident in Medicine. He later completed a fellowship in infectious diseases at the prestigious University of Alabama at Birmingham.

Recognized for his dedication to excellence in patient care, Dr. McCall received the Top Doc Award from Atlanta Magazine from 2022-2025 in the Infectious Disease Specialty.
