Experienced Family Nurse Practitioner and Army Veteran Offers Compassionate, In-Home Care to Geriatric and Hospice Patients

New York City, New York May 9, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Leonard Jensen, MSN, FNP-C, a highly skilled and compassionate Nurse Practitioner, serves patients across the Greater Boise area through Keystone Health & Fire Note Home Health and Hospice. Specializing in hospice and palliative care, as well as home health services, Leonard is committed to providing exceptional care to those who need it most. With over 21 years in the healthcare field, his expertise in acute care, intensive care, and mental health complements his passion for geriatric care, allowing him to offer tailored services directly in the homes of his patients.

Leonard's journey into healthcare began with a deep inspiration from his family. His mother, a nurse for 43 years, and his wife, a constant pillar of support, have been instrumental in his professional path. After serving 16 years in the Army, both as a non-commissioned officer and later as an officer in the Army Nurse Corps, Leonard transitioned into civilian healthcare, where he furthered his education and expertise. He completed his Master of Science in Nursing (MSN) at the University of Alabama at Birmingham in 2009, focusing on Family Nurse Practitioner and Palliative Care.

As the owner of Keystone Health, Leonard is deeply involved in providing high-quality care to his geriatric patients, especially those who require hospice or palliative services. By offering in-home visits, he eliminates the challenges many elderly patients face when commuting to receive primary care. This personalized approach allows Leonard to monitor his patients' well-being closely while providing care in the comfort of their own homes, which can significantly improve their quality of life during difficult times.

Leonard's dedication to his patients goes beyond the traditional role of a healthcare provider. He considers each patient a part of his extended family, treating them with the same level of care, respect, and commitment. His affiliation with esteemed hospitals such as Saint Luke's Hospital and Saint Alphonsus Hospital further strengthens his ability to deliver comprehensive and effective care. As a member of the American Association of Nurse Practitioners, the American Geriatrics Society, and the Health Professions Councils of Namibia, Leonard stays current on the latest medical advancements, particularly those in geriatrics and palliative care, to ensure his patients receive the best care available.

With a career rooted in service and a genuine passion for healthcare, Leonard Jensen continues to impact his community positively. Whether working with patients in their homes or through his work at Keystone Health, he is focused on enhancing the lives of those he serves. He encourages anyone seeking compassionate home health care or palliative services to reach out through his practice's website at www.keystone.health.
