

Scott Bukow Launches Private Practice: Transforming Functional Neurology and Cognitive Health Care

Leading Expert in Functional Medicine and Neurology Aims to Redefine Patient Experience

New York City, New York May 9, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Scott Bukow, a highly respected specialist in functional neurology and cognitive health, has opened his private practice, aiming to revolutionize patient care for those affected by Traumatic Brain Injuries (TBI), Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder

(ADHD), and COVID-19 Long Hauler symptoms. With over 30 years of experience in functional medicine and having served as the former head educator for Metagenics and The Institute of Functional Medicine, Scott brings a wealth of knowledge and a unique perspective to his practice.

Scott holds a CFMP from IFM/Metagenics (1993), a B.S. and B.A. from Loyola Marymount University (1990), and a Certified Health Coach (CHC) designation from the Institute for Integrative Nutrition (2021). This extensive educational background fuels his passion for innovative treatment protocols that address the complexities of brain health.

Scott's comprehensive approach is informed by both his extensive professional background and personal experience as a recovered severe TBI patient. He understands firsthand the complexities of brain health and the challenges faced by individuals navigating their recovery journeys. "Although I cannot treat, cure, or diagnose conditions like TBI, ADHD, or COVID Long Haulers, my goal is to optimize the health of the brain and the gut-brain axis, helping patients achieve their fullest potential," Scott stated.

His innovative practice incorporates cutting-edge protocols that integrate functional neurology and advanced nutritional therapies, with a focus on addressing the root causes of cognitive, neurological, gut-brain axis, and immune system challenges. Scott's dedication to personalized care ensures that his patients are treated as individuals, not just numbers. He emphasizes the importance of empathy, trust, and a supportive environment, creating a community where patients feel valued and understood.

"Every patient who walks through my door is part of a family dedicated to healing and transformation. It's about restoring hope and enhancing quality of life," Scott remarked. His approach has attracted patients from across the U.S., Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and the U.K., all seeking relief from their complex health issues.

Scott's commitment to education and empowerment extends beyond his practice. He has educated physicians and practitioners globally, having trained over 23 countries on the principles of functional medicine. His contributions to the field have earned him numerous accolades, including the prestigious World Trade Center Award for Export Achievement in 2003, recognizing his impact on advancing functional medicine worldwide.
