

Siip Drinks selects Complete Co-packing Services for Manufacturing and Fulfilment

Wellness brand Siip Drinks is gearing up for the growth of its premium water enhancing products, working with Complete Co-packing Services.

Mid Glamorgan, United Kingdom Jan 13, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - Made without artificial flavours, added sugar or 'nasties', Siip's unique flavours include Raspberry and Hibiscus, Sicilian Lemon and Tahitian Lime, and Blood Orange and Passionfruit. They offer tasty hydration and zero calories with electrolytes and vitamins. Each bottle produces 30 servings, reducing the amount of single-use packaging and supporting a greener and more sustainable lifestyle, on the go or at home.

Complete Co-packing Services Limited has been working with Siip to get the innovative products to market via a range of trials and testing. Development work has included the blending of the product using high shear mixers and filling the liquid into PET squeeze bottles designed to dispense the correct amount of product per serving. The bottles are then capped and shrink-sleeved with a full-body sleeve and built-in anti-tamper, giving them a premium, sleek finish.

After production, the finished bottles are transported to Complete Co-packing Services' 54,000 square foot Warehouse and Fulfilment Centre, where they are stored and prepared for online orders, including those placed via the Amazon platform. As part of the Fulfilment by Amazon (FBA) prep work, a team at Complete Co-packing Services packs the bottles into multi-pack gift boxes, allowing customers to sample each flavour and enjoy 90 drinks that can be served hot, cold, still, or sparkling. This partnership has allowed Siip to bring a high-quality and versatile product to market while reducing its supply chain and carbon footprint.

Claire Gallagher, Co-founder of Siip, said: "We began our partnership with Complete Co-Packing about nine months ago, and it's already clear we made the right choice. As a new brand, finding a trusted partner to handle your product can feel daunting, but Complete Co-Packing has truly exceeded our expectations.

"From the start, their high standards and commitment to quality have been evident in every aspect of their work. Their BRC AA-grade accreditation isn't just a credential – it's demonstrated daily across their hygiene, technical, QA, production, and goods handling practices. Every interaction and output reflects an exceptional level of care, accuracy, and professionalism.

"The team at Complete Co-Packing is not only experienced and knowledgeable but also friendly and collaborative. They go above and beyond to share their expertise, ensuring our products meet the highest safety standards and are accompanied by all necessary documentation and specifications. One area where they have been particularly invaluable is in planning and logistics. They are responsive, flexible, and accommodating, especially when unexpected challenges arise – something many new brands face when bringing innovation to market".

Sophie Thomas, Business Development Manager for Complete Co-packing Services, said: "Partnering with a contract manufacturer and fulfilment partner allows brands to focus on their sales growth and branding, while the complexities of production are handled by a third-party with expertise and knowledge. When setting up a manufacturing and fulfilment facility, there are many key considerations, from food safety accreditations and licenses to employing skilled staff and the purchase of specialised equipment. Rather than investing time and resources into this element, brands can work with an experienced partner who already has the systems in place, allowing them to dedicate their time to building the brand."

"Our expertise across a diverse range of products and processes enables us to deliver significant value to our clients. With our BRCGS AA* accreditation, we hold the highest standards of quality, food safety, and compliance, ensuring every product meets production excellence. For both startups and established brands, we offer the flexibility of trial production runs, allowing them to test the market response before scaling up to full production. This approach minimises risk, accelerates product launches, and helps brands maintain their focus on marketing, innovation, and customer engagement."
