North Hollywood, California Jun 11, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - All Bout Chasing Money Presents "Journal of a Mad Black Daddy" by Tee Priceless aka Tee Price — A Bold, Honest Look at Fatherhood, Identity, and Survival

Independent record label All Bout Chasing Money (ABCM Records) proudly announces the upcoming release of “Journal of a Mad Black Daddy,” a powerful six-track project by rising North Hollywood (West Coast) artist Tee Priceless. With deep lyrical narratives, emotional authenticity, and genre-defying production, the project gives voice to the lived experiences of fatherhood, injustice, and cultural identity.

Leading the release is the gripping single “Take Me (One Take),” a raw and vulnerable record showcasing Tee Priceless’ signature blend of spiritual grit and poetic realism. Written and recorded in a single take, the song captures the urgency and inner conflict of a Black father fighting to remain present in his child’s life despite systemic racism & challenges.

Also featured is the soul-stirring collaboration “Letter to Kids,” a standout duet with East Coast artist Yahweh Almighty from Boston, offering a heartfelt message to their children growing up in a fractured world. The track highlights both artists’ ability to balance lyrical complexity with emotional clarity, leaving a lasting impact on listeners of all backgrounds.

“Journal of a Mad Black Daddy” will include six records rooted in truth and transformation, with production that fuses hip-hop, soul, and tribal rhythm. The project is both personal testimony and social commentary, giving insight into Tee Priceless’ struggles with identity, custody, state violence, and spiritual healing.

Also featured is the gripping new anthem “Generational Curses” by Tee Priceless featuring Yahweh Almighty—a bold lyrical statement about breaking cycles of trauma, abandonment, and inherited pain. With powerful verses and a soul-infused hook, the song explores fatherhood, identity, and the fight to heal from what’s passed down. It’s one of the most raw and transformative tracks on the project.

“This isn’t just music—it’s a journal of everything I’ve lived through and still rise from,” says Tee Priceless. “It’s for the dads who stay, the dads who try, the kids who hurt, and the people fighting every day to not be erased & or exterminated.”

In addition to Tee Priceless’ release, Yahweh Almighty, founder of the influential collective 28 Karat, is set to drop his highly anticipated full-length album, “Black Sheep,” later this year. The album promises to push creative boundaries and continue his mission to amplify voices that challenge the status quo.

Label talents Davida and Onelix also contribute to the label’s growing influence, representing a collective committed to artistic freedom, cultural truth, and self-determination.
