

Cosmic rock band SENSOR NOISE release CULT CLASSIC.

Led by former Disney stars Allisyn Snyder (Zora from “Sonny With A Chance”) and Dylan Snyder (Milton from “Kickin’ It”), along with Steve Arm, SENSOR NOISE explores genres from ethereal dream pop to ruckus grunge.

Los Angeles, California Jun 28, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Following the band’s debut single Burn Out, and a cover of David Lynch’s In Heaven, the group is releasing their third track, CULT CLASSIC.

With lyrics like “Did you ever stop to wonder why you lie awake in bed? You’ve been through this all before, I would know, I saw you dead,” Cult Classic evokes the feeling of a late night conversation with an otherworldly entity after one too many drinks. It was written by Allisyn Snyder for current Fubar (Netflix) star, Aparna Brielle, as a 30th birthday present. The actress features on the track, chanting the haunting hook, “We both died in Pompeii.” Snyder and Brielle have a long history, meeting while working on the NBC series “A.P. Bio” alongside Glenn Howerton and Patton Oswalt.

The artists bonded over their passions for history, spirituality, and psychology. Following four seasons of “A.P. Bio,” the two worked together as producers on an immersive Warhol-inspired theater experience called “Nothing Special” written by Melanie Anne. The production spawned a Los Angeles artist collective called the Factory Superstars who collaborate on films, albums, and Factory Magazine.

Lifetimes in the entertainment industry have equipped the group to create stimulating visuals to complement their tracks. The music video for Cult Classic, also released June 28th 2025 on the Sensor Noise YouTube channel, features many of the Factory Superstars, including Melanie Anne, Kristin Couture, Joey Luthman, and Tatiana Paris. Aparna Brielle stands out as the only one in red, surrounded by bewitched followers dressed in black. In another tableau, Brielle sits atop a grand piano in a stunning sanctuary crying tears of gold as Dylan Snyder plays in a cloak and mask, à la Eyes Wide Shut.

Turn on their tunes and indulge your senses in their seductive sounds.
