

Dr. Fernando J. Torres, MD, CWSP, PCWC, WCC, DWC, CHWS, FACCWS: Pioneering Advanced Wound Care in Orlando

Renowned Wound Care Specialist Integrates Clinical Expertise with Technological Innovation to Elevate Patient Outcomes

New York City, New York Jun 4, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Dr. Fernando J. Torres, a distinguished wound care physician, is making significant strides in the field of wound management through his multifaceted approach that combines clinical excellence, technological innovation, and educational outreach. With over two decades of experience in hyperbaric medicine and wound care, Dr. Torres has treated more than 5,000 patients across Puerto Rico and Florida, earning recognition for his commitment to improving patient outcomes and advancing the practice of wound management.

As the Chief Medical Officer of Wound Therapeutics of Florida LLC, located in downtown Orlando, Dr. Torres leads a specialized team dedicated to providing advanced wound care services. The clinic offers individualized treatment plans for various conditions, including diabetic foot ulcers, venous and arterial ulcers, pressure injuries, burns, and post-surgical wounds. Utilizing state-of-the-art technologies such as infrared laser therapy and artificial intelligence-powered electronic medical records, the practice aims to accelerate wound healing and enhance the quality of life for patients.

Beyond his clinical endeavors, Dr. Torres is a visionary in the integration of technology into healthcare. He is the founder and lead developer of Wound Charts, an electronic medical record system specifically designed for wound care providers. This platform leverages AI to offer treatment recommendations, aiming to reduce medical errors and improve clinical outcomes. His initiative reflects a commitment to harnessing technology to support clinicians in delivering optimal patient care.

Dr. Torres is also dedicated to the education and training of healthcare professionals in wound management. He established Wound Authority, an online portal offering resources and training for clinicians seeking to enhance their knowledge in wound care. Additionally, he conducts the "Wound Care Flash Review Course," a comprehensive program designed to prepare professionals for certification exams in wound management. His contributions to education underscore his commitment to advancing the field through knowledge dissemination.

Dr. Torres's multifaceted approach to wound care—encompassing clinical practice, technological innovation, and professional education—positions him as a leader in the field. His work not only benefits patients in Orlando and Puerto Rico but also serves as a model for integrating diverse strategies to enhance healthcare delivery.
