Grants Pass, Oregon Jun 30, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - Mechetti is using her platform to raise money for two national nonprofits—The B+ Foundation (childhood cancer support) and the Breast Cancer Society—while elevating awareness for Inked Originals, a creator-owned visual production brand she leads from Southern Oregon.

Her work focuses on restoring local communities through entrepreneurship, immersive storytelling, and youth workforce training. Her Think 'N Tank Resource Center and media collaborations help undercapitalized creators become equity holders in their work.

Her latest acquisition, TruSPL Technology, will power immersive art drops and community-rooted storytelling experiences set to debut later this year.

"This is about giving the next generation of creators a structure they can build on," Mechetti says. "And showing small towns what's possible when creativity meets ownership."
