

Jenny Paul Awarded as Automotive Expert of the Year 2024–2025 by National Car Removal

Jenny Paul receives award for her role in shaping operational standards, promoting sustainability, and guiding procedural development within the vehicle removal sector.

Brisbane, Queensland Jun 17, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - National Car Removal has officially recognised Jenny Paul as Automotive Expert of the Year 2024–2025, acknowledging her years of contribution to the organisation and the car removal sector. The announcement highlights her sustained leadership, hands-on expertise, and role in enhancing operational systems across the company.

Jenny joined National Car Removal in 2018 and has steadily advanced through multiple roles, including Team Leader and later Operations Manager. Her career growth has been marked by consistent focus on operational structure, staff development, and responsible practices in vehicle handling.

Contributions and Career Growth

Jenny's current role involves overseeing logistical coordination, procedural review, and support for environmentally conscious methods in car recycling. Her influence has helped refine key valuation models and introduce new standards for vehicle assessment and dismantling.

Having studied at the University of Australia and residing in Oxley since 2020, she brings both academic insight and practical experience to her fieldwork.

Over the past year, Jenny has been involved in several internal development programs aimed at improving customer experience and reducing inefficiencies in the removal process. She has also contributed to policy updates focusing on sustainability.

Recognition and Impact

The Automotive Expert of the Year award is based on internal performance reviews, evaluation of management capabilities, and measurable contributions to the organisation's progress. Jenny's ability to implement structured processes and mentor upcoming staff has played a significant part in this recognition.

National Car Removal's leadership team noted that Jenny's consistent output and attention to quality standards have been integral to the company's operations over recent years.

Looking Forward

Jenny continues to work closely with various teams across the Brisbane region to support operational targets and industry-specific goals. Her involvement remains key in guiding future approaches to car valuation, disposal practices, and internal process refinement.

National Car Removal extends its acknowledgment to Jenny Paul for her contributions and the milestone represented by this award.

Media Contact

Jenny Paul

@nationalcarremoval.com.au

Source : National Car Removal

See on IssueWire