

Karima Caroline Fitzgerald, MD: A Leader in Acute Care/Trauma Surgery and Critical Care Medicine at UPMC

Providing Expert Surgical Care Across North-Central Pennsylvania

New York City, New York Jun 24, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Karima Caroline Fitzgerald, MD, a board-certified trauma surgeon and surgical critical care specialist, is making significant strides in acute care/trauma surgery and critical care medicine within the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center (UPMC) network. Operating primarily out of UPMC Williamsport, Dr. Fitzgerald also extends her expertise to UPMC Cole and UPMC Muncy, ensuring that patients in north-central Pennsylvania have access to world-class surgical care.

With nearly two decades of experience, Dr. Fitzgerald has established herself as a leader in managing high-acuity cases, providing surgical intervention for life-threatening injuries and complex conditions. Since beginning her practice in 2009, she has garnered a reputation for her exceptional skills and dedication to patient-centered care, consistently delivering high-quality results under pressure.

Dr. Fitzgerald's educational background is as impressive as her clinical expertise. She earned her Medical Degree from the Indiana University School of Medicine and completed her general surgery residency at UPMC Pinnacle, where she honed her skills across a diverse range of surgical procedures and patient management strategies. Furthering her specialization, she completed a fellowship in surgical critical care at Penn State Hershey Medical Center, where she developed advanced capabilities in trauma response and intensive care protocols.

As a board-certified professional in both general surgery and surgical critical care by the American Board of Surgery, Dr. Fitzgerald exemplifies excellence in both operating room environments and critical care decision-making. These certifications underscore her commitment to delivering continuous, high-quality care, ensuring patients receive comprehensive treatment from the moment they arrive until they are safely on their path to recovery.

Dr. Fitzgerald is particularly passionate about advancing trauma care in community hospital settings. Her clinical leadership is marked by a compassionate approach, making a profound impact on the lives of patients in need of urgent surgical interventions. Through her role within the UPMC network, she integrates evidence-based practices and cutting-edge surgical techniques to enhance patient outcomes.

As a vital resource for trauma care in north-central Pennsylvania, Dr. Fitzgerald's work is not just a profession; it is a calling. Her dedication to improving the lives of her patients and the broader community continues to inspire those around her.
