The Story Behind Development — A Golfer’s Vision Turned Into Reality

Astro Golfers was born from a simple wish: “I wish there were an app like this.” That thought came from the personal golf experience of its creator.

MoaiStudio’s founder, Sato, used to visit indoor golf simulators almost every week. After his fundamental practice, he looked forward to enjoying simulated rounds. However, after moving to a new area, he began practicing at a traditional driving range, where simulation features weren’t available—something always felt missing.

He would imagine rounds in his head, saying things like:

This kind of "virtual round" became his personal way of staying engaged at the range.

He searched for an app to make this mental simulation more fun and intuitive—but nothing matched his vision.

So he thought, "Why not build it myself?" That's how the solo development journey began.

As he built it, ideas kept expanding: "What if I could factor in ball lies?" "What about wind?" "Could it support multiple languages to connect golfers around the world?"

One by one, these ideas were implemented, making the app more fun and more practical.

Astro Golfers was created to bring a little more joy and imagination to everyday golf practice.

Future Plans

We plan to continue expanding Astro Golfers with exciting new features, including additional golf courses, online tournament functions,

We also hope to explore opportunities for collaborations and partnerships with companies and individuals.

While these ideas are still in the conceptual stage, we are committed to evolving Astro Golfers into a more engaging and expansive experience—one that welcomes flexible challenges and new possibilities.
