

Remote.Team Launch: Integrated Communication Platform Combines Business Chat with Task Management

International ceramics retailer Tile.Expert launches comprehensive workspace solution built from real enterprise experience

Los Angeles, California Jun 28, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Tile.Expert has unveiled Remote.Team, a unified platform that merges corporate messaging capabilities with project management tools in a single interface. The solution targets small and medium business owners seeking to streamline team collaboration without juggling multiple separate applications.

The platform enables teams to conduct business conversations, delegate tasks, set deadlines, and monitor project advancement through one consolidated dashboard. Remote.Team supports dedicated channel creation, document sharing, and real-time notifications across all connected devices.

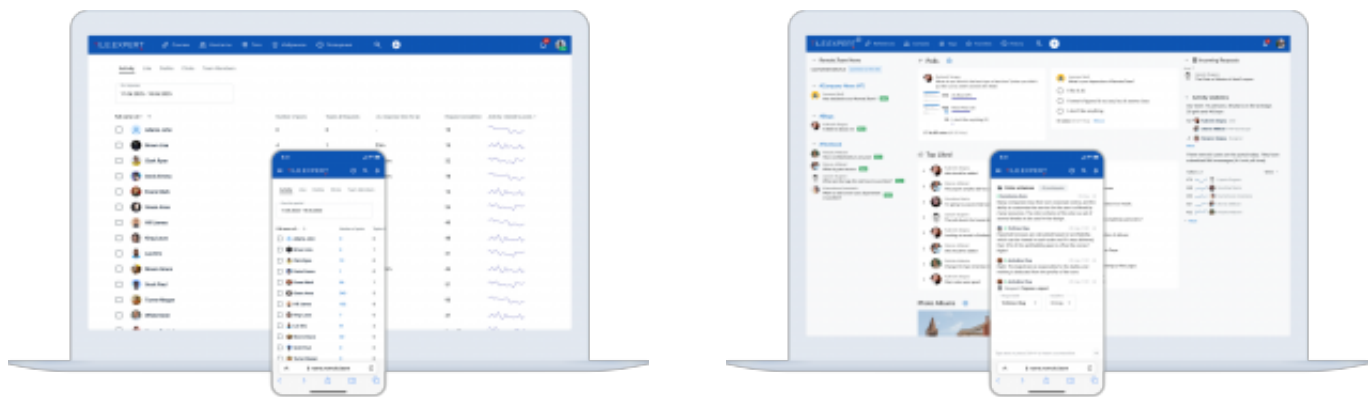

What sets Remote.Team apart is its development by Tile.Expert, one of Europe and America's largest online ceramic tile retailers. As an international company operating with an extensive distributed workforce, Tile.Expert runs entirely on the Remote.Team platform. This approach allows the development team to build the product based on genuine enterprise needs and real-world operational challenges rather than theoretical requirements.

The decision to develop Remote.Team emerged from evaluating internal team requirements and customer feedback, where fragmented workflow processes created significant productivity barriers. Company research revealed that typical employees switch between up to seven different applications during daily operations, reducing overall work efficiency.

Remote.Team addresses this challenge by consolidating essential business processes into one integrated environment. The platform features customizable workspaces for different departments, calendar application synchronization, and team performance reporting capabilities. End-to-end encryption protects all messages and files, ensuring corporate data confidentiality.

Remote.Team functions as a web-based application that requires no installation and works seamlessly across all devices and browsers. Remote.Team is available for registration through its official website with a complimentary trial period for new users.

Media Contact

Remote Team

@remote.team

Source : Tile.Expert | Remote Team

See on IssueWire