

Shar Releases New Single 'Baby Can I Hold You', Rendition of Tracy Chapman Classic

Shar Presents "Baby Can I Hold You"

Toronto, Ontario Jun 7, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - The charismatic musical star Shar released her new single 'Baby Can I Hold You' on May 23, 2025. This follows her heartfelt cover of Tracy Chapman's 'Give Me One Reason', which debuted on March 13, 2023. Both songs showcase the artist's capability to honor her classic roots while adding her vibrant touch. In this latest release, the artist preserves the gentle soul of the original but layers it with warm acoustic sounds and a soft Americana bounce. The track captures a peaceful and dusk-on-the-porch vibe that instantly draws listeners into its intimate mood. Similarly, her version of 'Give Me One Reason' reinterprets the smoky blues groove with bright guitars and steady drums that give the entire composition a livelier and more upbeat feel.

Together, both these singles show respect for the roots of Americana and Soul music. However, the artist has still maintained her unique touch, carving out her space with crafted arrangements and heartfelt delivery. Her clear vocals and steady rhythm in the composition invite listeners into an easy sing-along. These songs also reveal the artist's talent for blending timeless emotions with modern storytelling. With her vibrant energy and charisma on the renditions, these classics have quickly turned into road-trip anthems. Each of the renditions feels personal and sincere, offering a fresh perspective on Chapman's deeply emotional work.

As she continues to build on this promising foundation, fans are excited for more music from Shar in the coming year.
