

Stephanie Bratcher, RN, BSN, Ohio – A Beacon of Resilience and Leadership in Home Health Nursing

An Ohio-based Registered Nurse overcomes stroke adversity to lead clinical advancement and elevate patient care standards statewide.

New York City, New York Jul 1, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Stephanie Bratcher, RN, BSN, a highly experienced Registered Nurse and current Clinical Manager at Incare Ohio Home Health, is receiving well-earned recognition for her extraordinary journey of personal triumph and professional excellence. With over two decades in healthcare—spanning roles from medical assistant and LPN to RN supervisor—Stephanie has become a pillar of strength and leadership, especially following a life-altering stroke in 2019.

Stephanie's nursing career spans 21 years, with 24 years of total healthcare experience, beginning as a medical aide and progressing through various roles in Ohio facilities, including Barberton Hospital, ASAP Home Care, and Magnolia Nursing Home. In 2018, she joined Incare Ohio Home Health as a field clinician, and after a major stroke the following year, she was temporarily reassigned to an office-based position managing Medicare PCRs. Demonstrating her adaptability and unwavering commitment, Stephanie embraced this role and later advanced to the position of Clinical Manager after just three years.

In her current leadership capacity, Stephanie oversees five home health buildings and their field staff. Her dedication to clinical excellence sees her regularly stepping in—during holidays and weekends—to assist with patient issues on-site. She travels extensively across the state, mentoring nurses in the field to elevate their clinical skills and uphold patient-centric care standards. Moreover, she continues her rehabilitation journey, persistently working to regain full physical function while maintaining an unwavering presence in her professional and family life.

Stephanie credits her remarkable success to the unwavering support of her family, mentors, and colleagues. She highlights that being both a devoted parent and a dedicated advocate for her parents is among her greatest sources of motivation. “Without the support of my family, teachers, mentors, and friends, I wouldn’t be where I am today,” she affirms.

Stephanie Bratcher’s story is one of triumph, leadership, and heartfelt dedication to the nursing profession. Her journey—from overcoming a potentially career-ending stroke to leading a multi-site clinical team—is inspiring healthcare professionals across Ohio. As she continues to shape better outcomes for patients, nurture nursing talent, and reclaim her life’s potential, Stephanie embodies resilience, compassion, and professional integrity.
