

The Map Store Launches Educational Wooden Maps to Inspire Kids' Curiosity

New 2D/3D wooden maps designed for classrooms and homes combine aesthetics with learning—first-of-their-kind geography décor in India.

Ahmedabad, Gujarat Jun 21, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - The Map Store team is bringing geography lessons to life with a new lineup of wooden maps and wall clocks tailored specifically for children's rooms and classrooms. This launch is inspired by their well-received blog post, "Wooden Maps in Kids' Rooms: Fun Ways to Teach Geography" (June 2025)

These new educational décor pieces come in vibrant finishes and child-safe materials, ranging from beginner-friendly 2D maps to topographical 3D boards. They're offered with easy-to-use mounting kits, downloadable activity templates, and classroom maps that double as learning aids.

"We believe geography should be tactile and thrilling for kids—not just textbook pages," explains Nikita Suthar, Creative Head. "Our new maps invite hands-on exploration of continents, countries, and landmarks."

Complemented by blog guidance like "The Versatility of Wooden World Maps..." and "Signature Palette...", the launch taps into The Map Store's deep expertise in educational décor. Students and educators can engage in interactive learning through color-coded regions, magnetic markers, and classroom-friendly designs.

Sold nationally and backed by the same lifetime warranty and eco-friendly promise, the maps have already garnered positive reviews: one parent said, "The 3D Wooden Map...has truly transformed our living space...I love how versatile it is".
