

Tony Deoleo Visits Manny Pacquiao's Training Camp in LA as June Aquino Unveils Masterpiece Gift Honoring Greatness

California, United States Jul 3, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - In a powerful meeting of legacy, entrepreneurship, and art, Tony Deoleo, globally recognized philanthropist, entrepreneur, and bestselling author, visited Manny Pacquiao's legendary training camp in Los Angeles as the boxing icon prepares for his upcoming world title fight in Las Vegas.

For Deoleo, the visit was a meaningful tribute to discipline, focus, and excellence — values he shares with Pacquiao.

"Greatness leaves a blueprint," Tony said. "When you stand near it, you don't just witness it — you absorb it. Being in Manny's camp reminded me why we fight: to grow, to serve, and to inspire."

Adding to the significance, world-renowned painter June Aquino unveiled a powerful original painting as a personal gift to Tony and his wife, Lorie Deoleo. The work — a "process masterpiece" — is inspired by Pacquiao's legacy and the energy of the upcoming fight. It captures the passion, grit, and emotional power that define true greatness.

"This painting is my heartfelt gift to Tony and Lorie," Aquino shared. "They exemplify excellence and purpose. Like Manny, they inspire others by how they live and lead."

The artwork will be displayed in the Deoleos' private gallery as a lasting symbol of inspiration, perseverance, and the shared pursuit of greatness.

As Tony often says:

"When you stay close to greatness, it elevates everything you touch."
