Usbit Trading Center Launches Institutional Crypto Custody Services

Usbit Trading Center has introduced dedicated institutional custody services, featuring multi-layer security architecture and compliance-ready infrastructure.

Denver, Colorado Jun 23, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Usbit Trading Center, a global cryptocurrency exchange, today announced the launch of its institutional crypto custody services, designed to meet the rising demand from enterprises, asset managers, and high-net-worth investors for secure and regulation-aligned digital asset storage. This move significantly expands Usbit Trading Center's capabilities as a full-service financial platform within the evolving digital economy.

The new custody solution leverages a cold wallet system secured by multi-signature protocols, military-grade encryption, and 24/7 real-time threat monitoring. Assets held under custody are stored in geographically distributed facilities, with full compliance support for clients operating across North America, Europe, and Asia.

"Digital asset security is no longer optional—it's the foundation of long-term adoption," said a Usbit Trading Center spokesperson. "With this launch, Usbit Trading Center provides institutional clients with the safeguards and transparency they expect from a modern custody solution, while maintaining the flexibility needed for dynamic asset management."

The offering includes Reserve Mode Custody, which supports long-term crypto holdings with optional staking and interest accrual functionality. Clients can allocate assets including BTC, ETH, SOL, and stablecoins into secure vaults while retaining visibility and liquidity options through audited reporting dashboards.

As part of this release, Usbit Trading Center has also established a Custody Compliance Desk, partnering with international legal and regulatory advisors to assist clients in meeting evolving jurisdictional requirements. This service includes due diligence guidance, tax reporting support, and onboarding for corporate treasuries exploring digital asset exposure.

The institutional custody offering is fully integrated with Usbit Trading Center's existing ecosystem, enabling seamless transitions between active trading, reserve allocation, and treasury management. Combined with the platform's multilingual interface and real-time risk analytics, the custody suite supports organizations seeking a scalable digital asset strategy aligned with governance and operational controls.

This launch arrives as institutional adoption accelerates globally. According to recent industry reports, over 30% of hedge funds and family offices are actively exploring crypto investment, with secure custody cited as the top priority. Usbit Trading Center's solution directly addresses these concerns, offering bank-grade protection and auditability within a compliant framework.

The institutional service tier is currently available by application for verified business entities. Usbit Trading Center plans to further expand this suite with tokenized portfolio tools, on-chain reconciliation features, and multi-user permissions in Q2 2025.
