

Vitamarinaweb: the Italian social network for sea lovers and AI interaction

A new free and secure Italian social platform designed for sea and marine life enthusiasts. It features a built-in AI assistant that answers all your questions. Sign up now at www.vitamarinaweb.com

Milano, Lombardia Jun 26, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - Vitamarinaweb is a brand-new Italian social platform created for those who love the sea, nature, and sharing experiences. It is dedicated to marine life lovers and offers a unique online space to post photos, videos, and content related to the ocean world, helping users build genuine and meaningful connections.

Vitamarinaweb was born in 2015 and is the first real Italian social network. It is among the very first—if not the first—theme-based social networks in the world entirely dedicated to people who love the sea and marine life. It is also the first thematic social network in Italy with advanced features such as connection requests between users, private messages, public posts, comments, and a like button, making it an innovative and unique project in the national digital landscape.

What makes Vitamarinaweb truly different is its built-in intelligent assistant. This assistant can respond to any question users may have—curiosities, information, technical support, or general interaction—all in real time, without requiring users to download anything.

Security is a top priority: the site offers two-factor authentication (2FA), full encryption, and full control over your personal profile. You can manage your data, choose who sees your posts, and stay protected while enjoying the platform.

A free mobile app is available on Google Play.

Vitamarinaweb is the result of the work of a single Italian developer, driven by freedom, simplicity, and a passion for the ocean.

Sign up now for free at www.vitamarinaweb.com and dive into a new kind of social experience.

Media Contact

Vitamarinaweb

@hotmail.it

Source : Vitamarinaweb

See on IssueWire