Hyderabad, Telangana Jun 27, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Oily skin is a naturally occurring skin concern and happens to be one of the most bothersome. More often than not, oily skin leads to clogged pores, breakouts, and uneven skin tone. There are numerous products in stores to treat oily skin, but more and more dermatologists are recommending face washes with Vitamin C and Vitamin E for their ability to balance oil levels and clarify skin. One up-and-coming favourite is Sheawin Face Wash by Biorelax Biological, which dermatologists recommend as a face wash for oily and acne-prone skin.

Why Oily Skin Needs a Special Approach

Oily skin is typically caused by overactive sebaceous glands that over-produce sebum and excess oil can block pores and further aggravate breakouts, however, drying out your skin is never the answer. Drying your skin often causes more oil production as it is a natural process, however, if there is excess sebum and oil production the only solution is a mild face wash that does not strip the skin of all components. The best face washes will balance the skin, while also treating the excess oil.

Vitamin C and E Benefits for Oily Skin

Using Vitamin C and Vitamin E in skincare is extremely beneficial as follows:

- Oil Management without Over-Drying: Vitamin C keeps oil production in check while Vitamin E helps keep skin hydrated.
- Brighter Even Skin Tone: Vitamin C works to fade acne marks and pigmentation and vitamin E works on reparative spots and improving the skin's texture.
- Anti-Acne & Anti-inflammatory: Vitamin C and Vitamin E help calm acne flare ups and redness while helping the skin heal.
- Antioxidant Protection: Vitamin C provides protection against environmental pollutants while Vitamin E provides protection against sun damage, both of which often exacerbate oily skin.

How to Select the Best Face Wash in India

When looking for a face wash, especially for oily or acne prone skin, it is important to look for:

- non-comedogenic ingredients
- gel or foam texture,
- no alcohol or harsh sulfates,
- Additive ingredients like salicylic acid,
- niacinamide or green tea

For the best face wash in India to find, consumers should look for a face wash that combines gentle cleansing with skin reparative benefits, like Vitamin C and Vitamin E.
