Maumee, Ohio Jul 8, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Author Matt Heart Releases “The Incredible Bobbi Myers” – A Road Trip Novel with a Soundtrack Built to Break Hearts

A powerful new coming-of-age novel arrives August 18 with a 10-track original soundtrack—blending fiction, music, and the urgency of living boldly.

Singer-songwriter and author Matt Heart is set to release his latest project, The Incredible Bobbi Myers, on August 18, 2025, through Cold Fever Books. But this isn't just a novel—it's an experience. The release includes a 10-track original soundtrack, written and produced by Heart himself, making it one of the most emotionally immersive indie debuts of the year.

The book follows Bobbi Myers, a teenage girl diagnosed with a terminal illness and given just 30 days to live. Instead of waiting for the end, Bobbi grabs a backpack, a mixtape, and her two best friends, and sets off on a cross-country road trip to truly live. Along the way, they chase music, break hearts, crash concerts, and confront what it means to leave something meaningful behind.

"It's Perks of Being a Wallflower meets Daisy Jones & The Six—with a little Joan Jett attitude," says Heart. "This is the kind of story that lives in the cracks between songs—the loud, messy, beautiful moments that shape us."

The novel explores themes of friendship, grief, found family, and the unrelenting spirit of youth. Readers will laugh, cry, and sing along as Bobbi races against time—not to survive, but to be remembered.

The novel has already been submitted to several prominent book clubs, including Reese Witherspoon's Hello Sunshine, for potential review and feature consideration.

Heart also envisions the story as a future film adaptation, and says he'd love to see it brought to life by a young actress like Jenna Ortega (of Netflix's "Wednesday").
