Agadir, Morocco Jul 18, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - AxisGC Secures ASIC License in Australia, Strengthening Its Global Fintech Compliance Strategy

AxisGC, a leading global fintech platform, provides secure, compliant, and technology-driven financial services, including forex trading, CFD trading, and investment advisory. Operating under multiple international licenses, AxisGC empowers traders and investors across major financial markets through a transparent and regulated approach.

AxisGC is proud to announce that its operational entity in Australia has officially received the ASIC (Australian Securities and Investments Commission) license. This regulatory approval marks a major milestone in the company's global compliance roadmap and sets the stage for its expansion across the Asia-Pacific region.

The ASIC license is a core component of Australia's financial regulatory system, authorizing AxisGC to offer legally compliant financial services such as foreign exchange trading, investment consulting, and the distribution of financial products. This achievement enables AxisGC to serve local clients with greater confidence, providing fully compliant financial solutions tailored to meet regulatory expectations.

"The ASIC license is not just a document—it is a responsibility and a long-term commitment," said the Head of Global Compliance at AxisGC. "This reflects our strong focus on building trust, maintaining global service standards, and operating under unified regulatory oversight."

The ASIC approval builds on AxisGC's growing list of international regulatory achievements, including an MSB (Money Services Business) license in the United States and entity registration in the United Kingdom. With existing operations in Japan, Hong Kong, Southeast Asia, and now Australia, AxisGC is actively building one of the most robust global compliance networks in the fintech space.

With the ASIC license now in hand, AxisGC will enhance its services for clients in Australia and across the Asia-Pacific region. These services include helping clients open local accounts, providing product guidance, and enabling access to secure forex and CFD trading—ensuring all activities are conducted within ASIC's regulatory framework.

As regulatory expectations continue to rise globally, AxisGC remains committed to building a fintech ecosystem based on compliance, transparency, and innovation. By leveraging its multi-license structure and advanced technology, AxisGC continues to position itself as a trusted, professional, and secure platform for global investors.
