

“Bitcoin Cycle Theory Is Dead” – Crypto CEO Apologizes For Bearish Misfire, investors turn to DL Mining

Bitcoin Enters a New Era as Institutional Holders Redefine Market Cycles

Los Angeles, California Jul 26, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - According to CryptoQuant CEO Ki Young Ju, Bitcoin's current market dynamics represent a fundamental shift from previous cycles. In a recent post on X, Ju explained that during the last major cycle, whales sold into rising retail demand, marking the typical market top. This time, however, the pattern has reversed. “Old whales are selling to new long-term whales,” Ju wrote, pointing to the growing presence of institutional players with long investment horizons.

He noted that institutional adoption is far more significant than most believed. With the rise of spot Bitcoin ETFs, corporate treasuries, and sovereign interest, Bitcoin is evolving into a globally recognized macro asset. This shift is so profound that Ju admitted his previous call that the bull cycle was over was based on outdated assumptions. “I sincerely apologize if my prediction impacted your investment,” he posted. “I’ll be more careful with forecasts and focus on providing data-driven insights.” In this context, it may be a better choice for many BTC holders to turn to DLMining.

DL Mining: Easily obtain stable income

DL Mining is a user-friendly cloud mining platform where investors can choose the right mining contract

according to their needs and budget. The platform does not require users to purchase mining machines or have professional technical knowledge. After selecting a contract, they can automatically start earning daily income. In the current volatile market environment, this low-threshold, high-return model is particularly favored by long-term investors.

How to get started:

Step 1: Register an Account

It takes less than a minute to create your free account and get a $100 investment capital, earning $1 per day for free with your initial capital.
