

Charles J. Calais, DO, MS, FACP, FAAAAI, FAAAAI: A Leader in Allergy and Immunology Care in San Antonio

Local Allergist-Immune Specialist Combines Military Experience with Cutting-Edge Research and Patient Care

New York City, New York Jul 7, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - Charles J. Calais, DO, MS, FACP, FAAAAI, FAAAAI, is revolutionizing the field of allergy and immunology as a board-certified specialist at the All-American Allergy Asthma & Immunology Center in San Antonio, Texas. With extensive experience and a commitment to advancing research, Dr. Calais is dedicated to delivering the highest quality of care to patients suffering from allergic and immunological conditions.

As an esteemed affiliate of prominent medical centers, including Baptist, Methodist, Christus-Santa Rosa, Brooke Army, and Carl R. Darnall Army Medical Centers, Dr. Calais is well-respected in the local medical community. He also serves as an Assistant Professor of Medicine and Pediatric Medicine at the Uniformed Services University School of Medicine and as an Adjunct Professor of Medicine at the University of the Incarnate Word School of Osteopathic Medicine, contributing to the education of future healthcare professionals.

Dr. Calais's educational journey is impressive. He earned his Bachelor of Science in Biology from Fayetteville State University, a Master of Science in Health Services Administration from Central Michigan University, and his Doctor of Osteopathic Medicine from Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine. His clinical training included an internship and residency in internal medicine at San Antonio Military Medical Center, followed by a fellowship in allergy immunology at the National Capital Consortium in Bethesda, Maryland.

With over 27 years of honorable service in the U.S. Army Medical Corps, Dr. Calais brings invaluable military experience to his practice. He has held significant leadership roles, including Chief of Allergy Services at several military medical centers, and has participated in deployments supporting operations in Thailand, Bosnia-Herzegovina, and the Middle East. Dr. Calais is a Distinguished Member of the United States Army Medical Department Regiment and a member of the Order of Military Medical Regiment.

A Diplomate of both the American Board of Allergy and Immunology and the American Board of Internal Medicine, Dr. Calais is a Fellow of several prestigious medical organizations, including the American College of Physicians (FACP), the American Academy of Allergy Asthma and Immunology (FAAAAAI), and the American College of Allergy Asthma and Immunology (FACAAI). He is also an active member of the Texas Medical Association, the Texas Allergy, Asthma, and Immunology Society, the Bexar County Medical Society, the C.A. Whittier Medical Society, and the National Medical Association, and is a life member of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity Incorporated.

In addition to his clinical work, Dr. Calais is passionate about community outreach and spends his spare time reading, engaging in home improvement projects, and supporting initiatives in San Antonio alongside his wife and two children.

His dedication to patient care and research excellence positions Charles J. Calais as a leading figure in allergy and immunology in South Texas, making a significant impact on the lives of his patients and the community.
