

Dr. Mahmood Alasmi Expands Neonatal-Perinatal Medicine Expertise in Huntsville, AL

Board-certified neonatologist delivers advanced care for newborns and high-risk pregnancies

New York City, New York Jul 16, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - Huntsville Neonatal & Perinatal Center is pleased to welcome Dr. Mahmood Alasmi, MD, MS, FAAP, to its distinguished team. As a board-certified specialist in neonatal-perinatal medicine, Dr. Alasmi is dedicated to providing expert, evidence-based care for critically ill newborns and supporting high-risk maternal-fetal cases throughout the Huntsville community.

Dr. Alasmi earned his Doctor of Medicine and Master of Science, followed by residency in pediatrics and fellowship training in neonatal-perinatal medicine. He holds certification from the American Board of Pediatrics and is a Fellow of the American Academy of Pediatrics. His expertise spans respiratory support, neonatal resuscitation, advanced cardiac and neurological monitoring, nutrition management, and comprehensive care for preterm and medically fragile infants.

At Huntsville Neonatal & Perinatal Center, Dr. Alasmi is recognized for his clinical precision, empathy, and collaborative bedside manner. He leads multidisciplinary care teams involving neonatologists, NICU nurses, respiratory therapists, and maternal-fetal medicine specialists. He supports parents during the most critical moments, providing clear guidance, emotional support, and shared decision-making throughout each infant's care journey.

Beyond the NICU, Dr. Alasmi plays a vital role in education and quality improvement. He mentors pediatric fellows and neonatal staff, leads simulation-based resuscitation training, and participates in research efforts to advance neonatal outcomes. He is passionate about incorporating new clinical protocols and evidence-based practices to enhance patient safety and well-being.

Looking ahead, Dr. Alasmi plans to develop tele-NICU consultation programs, launch parent education workshops on newborn care and prematurity, and expand community outreach to support maternal and infant health initiatives. His vision aligns with Huntsville Neonatal & Perinatal Center's mission to provide compassionate, expert-driven care to newborns and families during their most vulnerable times.
