

Dr. Sunny Makhijani Elevates Wound Care Services to New York City and Tri-State Area, NY

Expert Wound Care, Podiatric and Orthopedic Specialist expands access to advanced wound management and limb preservation

New York City, New York Jul 2, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Equinox Wound Care is pleased to spotlight the exceptional work of Dr. Sunny Makhijani, a dedicated podiatric, orthopedic, and wound care expert now serving the New York City and greater Queens, Brooklyn, Bronx, Staten Island, Manhattan, and Long Island communities. Dr. Makhijani brings a compassionate approach, combining clinical excellence with cutting-edge therapies to support patients with foot, ankle, and wound-related health needs.

Dr. Makhijani holds licensure in New York and specializes in podiatric medicine with an additional focus on orthopedic, sports-related foot and ankle care, limb salvage care, and advanced wound care. Based at Equinox Wound Care Queens/Brooklyn/Manhattan offices, he provides comprehensive treatment options—including advanced wound care management, limb salvage, minimally invasive surgery (MIS), fracture care, diabetic ulcers, pressure ulcers, venous stasis ulcers, burn management, oxygen therapy, amniotic stem cell therapy for wound care, sports injury management, diagnostic ultrasound, radiographic imaging, custom molded orthotics, and advanced wound therapies—tailored to each patient's condition. He also treats wound care patients at homes, as mobile wound care plays an important role in bringing health care to patients to optimize their healing potential.

Since establishing Equinox Wound Care, Dr. Makhijani has been praised for his wound care expertise and responsiveness. Patients regularly highlight his impeccable care, responsiveness, and ability to manage complex infections. He is committed to serving all patients regardless of insurance status, ensuring equitable access to quality care.

Dr. Makhijani is actively involved in limb preservation efforts through advanced wound care technologies and minimally invasive procedures. He treats chronic and acute foot and ankle wounds using advanced modalities such, stem cells, oxygen therapies, wound vacs, amniotic skin substitute applications, and custom treatments designed to restore limb health and accelerate recovery.

Looking forward, Dr. Makhijani plans to expand outreach and education on wound management health within New York and beyond, emphasizing preventative care and early intervention. He remains dedicated to enhancing patient outcomes through the integration of orthopedic, podiatric, and wound care disciplines.
